U. N. Approves Congo Plan

Airlines Begin Wholesale Layoffs In Face Of Strike

Ticket Offices Close; Walkout To Idle 84,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A four-day wildcat strike of the Flight Engineers International Association crippled the nation's biggest, busiest airlines Monday, with 84,000 employes ticketed for indefinite layoffs. The tieup was the worst in American aviation history.

The prop roar and jet whine dwindled at great airports across the country. Ticket offices closed, with no reservations in sight before Thursday at the earliest.

As closing-down operations began, as many as five out of six employes were furloughed on six struck airlines — including three of the country's four biggest. Only United Air Lines, second in passenger miles flown, was untouched.

Losses in revenues and salaries approached the $5-million daily mark. Flight engineers, navigators and mechanics on many foreign lines were reported ready to support the walkout, possibly with costly 24-hour sympathy work stoppages that would send losses soaring even higher.

Flight engineers picketed the California State Capitol at Sacramento, where Gov. Edmund G. Brown, after consulting Washington, told them federal officials were "working on a solution."

No Early Settlement Seen

But in Washington members of the striking flight engineers foresaw no immediate prospects of settlement, although telephone talks with government agencies continued. The White House already had failed in an initial effort to end the strike, which was directed more against the government than the airlines.

In Los Angeles, Kansas City and New York, various struck airlines sought contempt citations and multimillion-dollar damages against the engineers' union — without, however, slowing the walkout.

Flight engineers totaling some 3,500 stayed away from their jobs in what they described as a fight for their union and their jobs. The only planes that can safely take off without engineers or supervisory substitutes — are twin-engine craft, and few of this type attempt more than short hops.

The big four-engine jets and propeller craft, backbone of modern air travel, rested silent and abandoned by the hundreds.

Thousands Stranded

From Los Angeles to New York and from Tulsa to Boston, tens of thousands of travelers were stranded, more than 100,000 alone in the Metropolitan New York area. They stormed operating airline waiting rooms and railroad passenger depots.

Foreign transatlantic carriers were not affected. But some American international flights were washed out. The president of the struck Pan American World Airways, Juan Trippe, was stranded in Argentina after a board of directors meeting there.

Florida tourist business, booming after a slow start, was gravely threatened, although airlines serving Miami strove to keep at least some of their planes in the air. Northeast Airlines, linking Boston, New York, Washington and Florida, was the only unaffected carrier to Miami.

American, TWA Shut Down

The struck airlines included American, Eastern and Trans World—three of the country's Big Four—and Pan American, National and Western.

First to announce complete shutdowns before midnight Monday night were American and TWA. They sent furlough notices to 44,000, exempting only such

U.S. President To Visit Canada

OTTAWA (AP)—President Kennedy has accepted an invitation to visit Canada, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced in the House of Commons late Monday on his return from a White House visit.

Diefenbaker, reporting to the House on his three-hour talk with the President in Washington, said he invited Kennedy to come before the end of the current parliamentary session and to mark the visit by addressing a joint sitting of the two Houses of Parliament.

Johnson Plane Crashes; Two Pilots Perish

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—A two-engine private plane that was supposed to have flown Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson back to Washington Monday, crashed and partly burned Sunday night seven miles from Johnson's LBJ ranch. The pilot and co-pilot —the only persons aboard—were killed.

The victims were Harold Teague, 40, of Austin, Tex., the pilot, and Charles Williams of Houston, Tex., the co-pilot. Alfred O. Weirich, a rancher, found the wreckage of the Convair 340 and bodies Monday.

Johnson hurried to the scene from his ranch and standing in the wreckage, said: "I've lost the best pilot in the world and two wonderful friends. If they had been 30 feet higher, they would have missed it (the hill against which they crashed)."

"Vest Pocket" Revolt Crushed In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A national guard colonel recently fired from his job and a few followers attempted a revolt against the government Monday. They were quickly squelched without bloodshed.

Several military men, including the leader of the revolt, at least 30 civilians and a Roman Catholic priest were reported by reliable sources to have been arrested.

The newspaper El Mundo said 60 arrests, civilian and military, had been made.

The government announced the arrest of only Col. Jose Edito Ramirez, identified as the leader of the uprising.

Informants said the Catholic priest arrested was the Rev. Simon Salvatierra.

The sources said it was Salvatierra's voice that announced over Radio Rumbos that the Romulo Betancourt government had fallen and that the armed forces had taken over.

Apparently only four shots were fired in the 30-minute fiasco. A loyal soldier began shooting excitedly when a sergeant led a small band of plotters into the military police barracks in an effort to free national guardsmen under disciplinary arrest.

The plotters succeeded in freeing 17 of the prisoners, who rushed off with a Maj. Contreras to Radio Rumbos which they captured and held for half an hour.

Meanwhile, Col. Ramirez showed up at the capital's Military Academy with about 30 civilians in automobiles and attempted to take it over.

U.S. Urges Russ Accept Laotian King's Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States urged Russia Monday night to accept Laotian King Savang Vathana's plan for ending outside intervention and halting the civil war in his tiny Asian nation.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk made the appeal in a 30-minute meeting with Russian Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov. Rusk summoned the Soviet envoy to the State Department after Russia suddenly stopped its airdrops of arms to Communist rebels in Laos.

Menshikov said after the conference that "no conclusions" were reached. He said he would report to the Kremlin on the talk.

The State Department had no immediate comment on the meeting.

King Savang proposed Sunday that neutralist Burma, Camboida and Malaya send observers to Laos to "denounced" outside intervention. U.S. officials said the United States, Britain, France and other nations were ready to give quick consent and were awaiting Russia's reaction.

Menshikov reiterated Russia's long-time demand for an international conference on the Laos strife. This was one of the conditions said to have been advanced by Russia in accepting the principle of a Western proposal for solving the crisis.

The United States and Britain fear that such an international conference would turn into an inflammatory and fruitless propaganda battle.

The West suggested last month that the international control commission set up to police the Indo-China truce be revived and sent to Laos to seek a settlement in the war between Communist and pro-Western forces. Portions of Russian reply were disclosed in London Monday.

Belgium's Parliament Dissolved

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — King Baudouin dissolved Parliament Monday because of a widening rift between Premier Gaston Eyskens' Social - Christians and their coalition partners, the Liberals.

The king decreed March 26 as the date for a general election, which may prove one of the hottest ever fought in this country and could open the door for Paul-Henri Spaak to return to the helm with his Socialist party.

The dissolution climaxed months of turmoil for Eyskens' middle-of-the-road regime. The upheaval in the Congo was followed by a grave economic crisis, which in turn held Belgium crippled for nearly a month in the grip of a massive general strike as the government tried to meet it with it with higher taxes and steep cuts cuts in state welfare services.

Eyskens' austerity program rode out he storm, only to flounder Friday when Liberal ministers in the government quit after a dispute on how and when the bill should become effective.

Two Cold-Blooded Gunmen Shoot Pair

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two cold-blooded young gunmen killed a tavern customer and fired six bullets into the fleeing bartender Monday in a holdup on the edge of the Minneapolis Loop.

Wordlessly, the jacket-clad killers herded Howard Trowbridge, 52, of Milwaukee, and bartender George Koch, 30, into a back storage room where Trowbridge was shot through the head and chest.

Koch ran for the front door through a volley of bullets, found his path barred by one of the gunmen and staggered to a back door. He collapsed critically wounded outside the door as the gunmen, who got approximately $200, fled.

Wreckage Of Veep's Plane

The pilot and co-pilot of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's luxurious private plane were killed when it crashed in murky weather Sunday night. The plane was attempting to reach Johnson's Texas ranch when poor visibility forced the pilot to turn back. The Vice President was not aboard. Harold Teague, 39, Austin, Tex., the pilot, and Charles Williams, 37, Houston, co-pilot, were found dead in this wreckage yesterday morning. (AP Photofax)

Kennedy's Job Aid Bill Sent To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress Monday his bill to perk up areas now depressed by sick industries and jobless men.

Millions would be spent and lent to bring new industries to the areas and new skills to the men.

In a bill forwarded to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., Kennedy proposed:

1. A $300 million loan fund. The government would lend the money to communities to expand their industries or attract new ones. No more than $90 million could be lent before July 1, 1962.

2. $75 million in grants to help communities supply the roads, water, utilities, and other public facilities needed by the new or expanded industries. This total figure would be fixed in the bill, but Congress could appropriate more funds for grants from time to time.

3. $10 million a year to unemployed workers so they can maintain themselves while studying and developing new skills required by the new industries in their communities.

4. $4.5 million a year to depressed areas that need the money to plan programs to improve their economies.

Blinding Snowstorm Hits Southwest Area

By The Associated Press

A blinding snowstorm hit west Texas and parts of New Mexico Monday, closing roads and cutting visibility.

The white rampage piled 3 inches over the area around Seminole, Tex., in 90 minutes, and spread 2 inches in the Levelland vicinity.

Elsewhere, much of the nation's weather has spring's earmarks, although winter has another month to run. A wide band of sunny, mild weather lay across the country from mid-California to New England.

Kennedy Proposes 5.7 Billion Dollars In Aid To Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy declared Monday the federal government is under obligation to help educate the country's youth, and he proposed spending $5.7 billion as a starter over the next few years.

To Congress, which never has passed a law providing general aid to education, Kennedy described his program as "an essential though modest contribution."

Opponents, mainly Republicans, called it excessive. Supporters, mainly Democrats, contended it is genuinely essential.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the President's outline "involves a terrific amount of money." Dirksen advocated instead his four-year, $2-billion program limited to school construction, with local school districts putting up half the money on a matching basis.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana noted the Senate last year passed "an even stronger bill" and expressed hope for similar action this year. The 1960 Senate measure died in the House Rules Committee.

Kennedy recommended offering federal funds not only for construction but also for teachers' salaries, a proposal that has drawn fire in the past and marked one of his campaign disputes with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon last fall.

Critics argue that federal aid to teachers would lead to federal control of education.

Anticipating opposition, Kennedy said: "Education must remain a matter of state and local control and higher education a matter of individual choice." Mansfield called attention to that statemen in Kennedy's message to Congress.

Under the administration program, the states would decide how to allot federal funds between construction and salaries. If they wished, the states could allot none for salaries.

Kennedy emphasized that no money would flow from Washington into the building or payroll of church schools. He said this is "in accordance with the clear prohibition of the Constitution."

In brief, Kennedy set forth these goals: "A new standard of excellence in education—and the availability of such excellence to all who are willing and able to pursue it." To accomplish the goals, he proposed this program:

1. Outright grants to the states for classrooms and-or salaries. Each state would receive at least $15 a pupil in average daily public school attendance. The average would be $19.75 in the first year, beginning next July 1, on a formula using a state's total personal income divided by the number of its pupils compared with the corresponding national totals. For the three years covered in the plan, the average would increase to $22.04, then to $24.22. the over-all cost would be $2.3 billion.

2. College scholarships. Ranging up to $1,000, according to need, these would average $700 a year. Colleges and universities would receive $350 for each scholarship to help meet actual expenses. For the first of the plan's five years, 25,000 scholarships would be awarded. The number would rise to 37,500 in the second year and 50,000 from then on. Cost: $577.5 million.

3. New long-term, low interest loans for the building of college classrooms and other educational facilities. For each of five years, $300 million would be authorized. Cost: $1.5 billion.

4. Additional loans for college dormitories, continuing this form of aid for five years at $250 million annually and increasing the amount for the current year. Cost: $1.3 billion.

Use Of Force If Necessary Voted 9 To 0

Soviet Resolution Calling For Dag's Dismissal Rejected

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. Security Council early Tuesday approved a broad Asian-African peace plan for the Congo—including use of force by U.N. troops if needed to prevent civil war.

It acted shortly after rejecting overwhelmingly a Soviet resolution demanding the dismissal of Dag Hammarskjold as secretary-general and an end to the U.N operation in the Congo.

By a vote of 9 to 0 with 2 abstentions the council approved a U.S.-backed resolution submitted by the United Arab Republic, Liberia and Ceylon on behalf of a large segment of Asian-African nations.

The abstainers were the Soviet Union and France. A veto would have certainly brought an emergency session of the General Assembly on the Congo in advance of the regular session to be resumed March 7.

The voting came at the end of morning, afternoon and night sessions Monday of the 11-nation Council, highlighted by the dramatic announcement by Secretary-General Dag Hammarksjold that six associates of the slain Congo leader Patrice Lumumba had been executed in southern Kasai Province.

Meeting In Congo Suggested

U. S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson said there was merit in a suggestion from Liberia that the council meet in the Congo, but only after action was taken here for restoration of law and order. He said such a move would "put the United Nations in Africa with dramatic impact," and the U.S. Air Force might supply the transportation.

Ceylon, the United Arab Republic and Liberia sponsored the Congo peace plan which had support of a large segment of Asian-African nations.

The same three nations put in another resolution demanding that the council condemn political assassinations and call upon authorities in Leopoldville, Elisabethville and Kasai "immediately to put an end to such practices."

The resolution asked U. N. authorities in the Congo to take all possible measures, including use of force, to prevent occurrence of such outrages. It sought also an investigation and punishment of those responsible for the killings.

Delegates of the three nations asked priority for their latest resolution.

In addition, George Padmore, delegate from Liberia, said he was prepared to introduce anotner resolution calling for a council meeting in the Congo, or a neighboring Congo country.

Would Invite Rival Leaders

Rival Congolese political leaders would be invited to attend in an effort to find a peace formula, Padmore said he would introduce the resolution "if it captures the imagination of other council members."

The Soviet Union blamed Hammarskjold for the new killings and called for approval of a Soviet resolution which demanded withdrawal of all U. N. forces from the Congo within 30 days.

Delegates to the council, including Stevenson, reacted to Hammarskjold's announcement with expressions of shock and concern.

There was fear that the six deaths — added to those of Lumumba and his two associates earlier in Katanga Province—would set off new protest demonstrations around the world.

There was widespread gloom that the killings had made only

New Social Security Tax Boost Asked By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has proposed another increase in Social Security taxes to meet "pressing social needs" and give the economy a boost.

In a letter to congressional leaders Monday, Kennedy recommended a series of changes to provide more benefits in some cases and to extend coverage to additional workers.

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff estimated the expanded benefits would total $1.01 billion in the first 12 months.

Kennedy proposed a further increase of one-fourth of one per cent in Social Security taxes levied against both employers and employes, effective Jan. 1, 1963.

Last week the President proposed a similar increase in the tax, also effective Jan. 1, 1963, to finance his health insurance program for the aged.

If both increases are enacted, the Social Security tax will go up from a combined total of 6 per cent at present to 8 per cent.

Employer and employe each pay 3 per cent now. The law provides for an automatic increase to 3½ per cent each, for a total of 7 per cent, starting in 1963. With the two increases Kennedy has proposed, this would rise to 4 per cent each.

To meet the cost of providing health insurance for persons of 65 and older, the President also asked that the earnings base on which Social Security taxes are levied be raised to $5,000 a year, effective Jan. 1, 1962.

Kennedy said the changes he proposed, if promptly enacted, "will give our economic recovery program needed impetus."

Space Age Brings Language Of Its Own

WASHINGTON (AP) — The astronaut made a synergic ascent, adjusting his barber chair to avoid aeroembolism.

The can's ambient remained comfortable even after passing the aerothermodynamic border and entering the anacoustic zone.

Later, the astronaut activated his attitude jets, going into braking ellipses which minimized the sacrifice of ablating materials. He experienced only mild dysbarism.

That is the language of the space age, a tongue destined to become more familiar once man ventures beyond the earth's atmosphere cocoon.

To help use the language, the Commerce Department Office of Technical Services has published a 75-page "Interim Aerospace Terminology Reference."

To eliminate inconsistent definitions, Air Force researchers prepared the glossary 16 months ago, but it has just now been made public.

To aid in translation of the first three paragraphs above, here are definitions of the pertinent terms:

Astronaut—One who flies or navigates through space.

Synergic ascent — An upward flight designed to give optimum fuel economy with optimum velocity.

Barber chair--An adjustable upright seat which can be converted quickly into a bed so as to increase an astronaut's tolerance of high acceleration.

Aeroembolism—An illness that is marked by the formation of gas bubbles in body tissues, something that can happen in a rapid change of altitude.

Can—A container within which the environment can be controlled.

Ambient — Environmental conditions such as pressure or temperature.

Aerothermodynamic border—A point at an altitude of about 100 miles above which the atmosphere is so rarified there is no significant heat-generating friction on the outer surface of a space craft.

Sunseeker — A device which keeps instruments pointed toward the sun despite rolling or tumbling of an aerospace vehicle.

Burping—Intermittent burning of a rocket.

Pitchover point—The point in space at which a rocket turns in a direction other than straight up.

Down the slot — A successful flight staying within parallel lines established in advance by safety personnel.

Attitude jets — Gas nozzles which can be operated to change a vehicle's direction.

Ablating materials — Special materials on the surface of a space craft that can be sacrificed carried away or vaporized, during re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

The king decreed March 26 as the date for a general election, which may prove one of the hottest ever fought in this country and could open the door for Paul-Henri Spaak to return to the helm with his Socialist party.

The dissolution climaxed months of turmoil for Eyskens' middle-of-the-road regime. The upheaval in the Congo was followed by a grave economic crisis, which in turn held Belgium crippled for nearly a month in the grip of a massive general strike as the government tried to meet it with it with higher taxes and steep cuts cuts in state welfare services.

Eyskens' austerity program rode out he storm, only to founder Friday when Liberal ministers in the government quit after a dispute on how and when the bill should become effective.

Two Cold-Blooded Gunmen Shoot Pair

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two cold-blooded young gunmen killed a tavern customer and fired six bullets into the fleeing bartender Monday in a holdup on the edge of the Minneapolis Loop.

Wordlessly, the jacket-clad killers herded Howard Trowbridge, 52, of Milwaukee, and bartender George Koch, 30, into a back storage room where Trowbridge was shot through the head and chest.

Koch ran for the front door through a volley of bullets, found his path barred by one of the gunmen and staggered to a back door. He collapsed critically wounded outside the door as the gunmen, who got approximately $200, fled.

Harold Teague, 39, Austin, Tex., the pilot, and Charles Williams, 37, Houston, co-pilot, were found dead in this wreckage yesterday morning. (AP Photofax)

Kennedy's Job Aid Bill Sent To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress Monday his bill to perk up areas now depressed by sick industries and jobless men.

Millions would be spent and lent to bring new industries to the areas and new skills to the men.

In a bill forwarded to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., Kennedy proposed:

1. A $300 million loan fund. The government would lend the money to communities to expand their industries or attract new ones. No more than $90 million could be lent before July 1, 1962.

2. $75 million in grants to help communities supply the roads, water, utilities, and other public facilities needed by the new or expanded industries. This total figure would be fixed in the bill, but Congress could appropriate more funds for grants from time to time.

3. $10 million a year to unemployed workers so they can maintain themselves while studying and developing new skills required by the new industries in their communities.

4. $4.5 million a year to depressed areas that need the money to plan programs to improve their economies.

Blinding Snowstorm Hits Southwest Area

By The Associated Press

A blinding snowstorm hit west Texas and parts of New Mexico Monday, closing roads and cutting visibility.

The white rampage piled 3 inches over the area around Seminole, Tex., in 90 minutes, and spread 2 inches in the Levelland vicinity.

Elsewhere, much of the nation's weather has spring's earmarks, although winter has another month to run. A wide band of sunny, mild weather lay across the country from mid-California to New England.

Kennedy Proposes 5.7 Billion Dollars In Aid To Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy declared Monday the federal government is under obligation to help educate the country's youth, and he proposed spending $5.7 billion as a starter over the next few years.

To Congress, which never has passed a law providing general aid to education, Kennedy described his program as "an essential though modest contribution."

Opponents, mainly Republicans, called it excessive. Supporters, mainly Democrats, contended it is genuinely essential.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the President's outline "involves a terrific amount of money." Dirksen advocated instead his four-year, $2-billion program limited to school construction, with local school districts putting up half the money on a matching basis.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana noted the Senate last year passed "an even stronger bill" and expressed hope for similar action this year. The 1960 Senate measure died in the House Rules Committee.

Kennedy recommended offering federal funds not only for construction but also for teachers' salaries, a proposal that has drawn fire in the past and marked one of his campaign disputes with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon last fall.

Critics argue that federal aid to teachers would lead to federal control of education.

Anticipating opposition, Kennedy said: "Education must remain a matter of state and local control and higher education a matter of individual choice." Mansfield called attention to that statemen in Kennedy's message to Congress.

Under the administration program, the states would decide how to allot federal funds between construction and salaries. If they wished, the states could allot none for salaries.

Kennedy emphasized that no money would flow from Washington into the building or payroll of church schools. He said this is "in accordance with the clear prohibition of the Constitution."

In brief, Kennedy set forth these goals: "A new standard of excellence in education—and the availability of such excellence to all who are willing and able to pursue it." To accomplish the goals, he proposed this program:

1. Outright grants to the states for classrooms and-or salaries. Each state would receive at least $15 a pupil in average daily public school attendance. The average would be $19.75 in the first year, beginning next July 1, on a formula using a state's total personal income divided by the number of its pupils compared with the corresponding national totals. For the three years covered in the plan, the average would increase to $22.04, then to $24.22, the over-all cost would be $2.3 billion.

2. College scholarships. Ranging up to $1,000, according to need, these would average $700 a year. Colleges and universities would receive $350 for each scholarship to help meet actual expenses. For the first of the plan's five years, 25,000 scholarships would be awarded. The number would rise to 37,500 in the second year and 50,000 from then on. Cost: $577.5 million.

3. New long-term, low interest loans for the building of college classrooms and other educational facilities. For each of five years, $300 million would be authorized. Cost: $1.5 billion.

4. Additional loans for college dormitories, continuing this form of aid for five years at $250 million annually and increasing the amount for the current year. Cost: $1.3 billion.

Five MPs Injured

JAFFNA, Ceylon (AP) — Five Parliament members were injured in a police charge on a stone-throwing crowd of 3,000 here Monday.

The crowd had been showing its sympathy for pickets obstructing entry to government offices in protest against the adoption of Sinhala as this former British colony's official language.

New Social Security Tax Boost Asked By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has proposed another increase in Social Security taxes to meet "pressing social needs" and give the economy a boost.

In a letter to congressional leaders Monday, Kennedy recommended a series of changes to provide more benefits in some cases and to extend coverage to additional workers.

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff estimated the expanded benefits would total $1.01 billion in the first 12 months.

Kennedy proposed a further increase of one-fourth of one per cent in Social Security taxes levied against both employers and employes, effective Jan. 1, 1963.

Last week the President proposed a similar increase in the tax, also effective Jan. 1, 1963, to finance his health insurance program for the aged.

If both increases are enacted, the Social Security tax will go up from a combined total of 6 per cent at present to 8 per cent.

Employer and employe each pay 3 per cent now. The law provides for an automatic increase to 3½ per cent each, for a total of 7 per cent, starting in 1963. With the two increases Kennedy has proposed, this would rise to 4 per cent each.

To meet the cost of providing health insurance for persons of 65 and older, the President also asked that the earnings base on which Social Security taxes are levied be raised to $5,000 a year, effective Jan. 1, 1962.

Kennedy said the changes he proposed, if promptly enacted, "will give our economic recovery program needed impetus."

Space Age Brings Language Of Its Own

WASHINGTON (AP) — The astronaut made a synergic ascent, adjusting his barber chair to avoid aeroembolism.

The can's ambient remained comfortable even after passing the aerothermodynamic border and entering the anacoustic zone.

The sunseeker worked well. There was some burping just before the pitchover point but the vehicle continued down the slot.

Later, the astronaut activated his attitude jets, going into braking ellipses which minimized the sacrifice of ablating materials. He experienced only mild dysbarism.

That is the language of the space age, a tongue destined to become more familiar once man ventures beyond the earth's atmosphere cocoon.

To help use the language, the Commerce Department Office of Technical Services has published a 75-page "Interim Aerospace Terminology Reference."

To eliminate inconsistent definitions, Air Force researchers prepared the glossary 16 months ago, but it has just now been made public.

To aid in translation of the first three paragraphs above, here are definitions of the pertinent terms:

Astronaut—One who flies or navigates through space.

Synergic ascent — An upward flight designed to give optimum fuel economy with optimum velocity.

Barber chair—An adjustable upright seat which can be converted quickly into a bed so as to increase an astronaut's tolerance of high acceleration.

Aeroembolism—An illness that is marked by the formation of gas bubbles in body tissues, something that can happen in a rapid change of altitude.

Can—A container within which the environment can be controlled.

Ambient — Environmental conditions such as pressure or temperature.

Aerothermodynamic border—A point at an altitude of about 100 miles above which the atmosphere is so rarified there is no significant heat-generating friction on the outer surface of a space craft.

Sunseeker — A device which keeps instruments pointed toward the sun despite rolling or tumbling of an aerospace vehicle.

Burping—Intermittent burning of a rocket.

Pitchover point—The point in space at which a rocket turns in a direction other than straight up.

Down the slot — A successful flight staying within parallel lines established in advance by safety personnel.

Attitude jets — Gas nozzles which can be operated to change a vehicle's direction.

Ablating materials — Special materials on the surface of a space craft that can be sacrificed carried away or vaporized, during re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

Get-America-To-Work Sessions Set By Labor

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Leaders of organized labor decided Monday to sponsor a series of get - America - to - work conferences, culminating with a rally in Washington to pinpoint the plight of the unemployed.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council approved plans for the conferences as proposed by the United Auto Workers Union. The meetings are designed to bring together labor, business, civic and political groups to consider steps to spur economic recovery. Dates and sites of the conferences are being worked out.

The council also urged Congress to give emergency preference to President Kennedy's proposed $1.2-billion extra aid to the nation's 5½ million idled workers. The AFL-CIO chiefs opened a 10-day winter meeting Monday. Many were suggesting a joint demand in behalf of organized labor that business adopt a code of ethics similar to those adopted by labor unions after the recent labor rackets scandal.

The leaders said they intend to bring up the matter at the union sessions here because of the recent pleas of guilty and no defense made by the nation's largest electrical equipment manufacturing concerns to charges of price fixing.

Tydings Named U.S. Attorney For Maryland

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph D. Tydings, a Democratic member of Maryland's House of Delegates, was nominated Monday by President Kennedy to be U. S. attorney for Maryland.

Tydings, 32, is the son of the late Millard E. Tydings, a U. S. senator from Maryland for 24 years until 1950.

The younger Tydings managed Kennedy's presidential primary campaign in Maryland last year and served as campaign coordinator for Delaware and Florida in the general election.

As U. S. attorney he will receive a salary of $17,500 a year. The nomination is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Tydings served as a corporal with the 6th Calvary Group of the 3rd Army in Germany. After military service he attended the University of Maryland and was graduated from the university's law school in 1953. He then joined his father's law firm, Tydings and Rosenberg in Baltimore.

Tydings was elected to the Maryland House in 1955 and was reelected to a second four-year term in 1959.

His home is at Oakington, Havre de Grace, Md.

Allegheny River Flood Threat Eases

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A massive ice gorge broke free 43 miles north of here Monday and moved swiftly down the Allegheny River easing a threat of a damaging flood in down-river communities.

The six-mile gorge, which jammed at East Brady, Pa., cracked loose with a roar shortly before 11 a.m. EST. Hugh ice blocks had created the jam in the narrow gorges where the Allegheny twists and turns through the mountains.

Ross Webb, Civil Defense director for western Pennsylvania, said if present conditions continue "we will not have the trouble we expected." He said a forecasted drop in temperatures to the 20s Monday night would slow down the river.

Court Upholds Negroes' Suit Against Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that public officials accused of using their authority to violate the constitutional rights of citizens may be sued for damages in federal courts under an 1871 civil rights law.

The court unanimously reinstated a suit brought by a Chicago Negro, his wife and six children against 13 Chicago policemen.

But the court held that the City of Chicago cannot be sued under the act for allegedly unlawful acts of its police officers.

The Negro family lost its suit in both the U. S. Dist. Court and the U. S. Court of Appeals in Chicago. These courts ruled that the family had no remedy under the old civil rights law, known as the Ku Klux Act.

In its ruling Monday, the high court held that public officials who misuse their badge of authority are subject to damage suits but that Congress in passing the law did not make municipalities liable for damages.

Justice William O. Douglas, who spoke for the court, said Congress had the Ku Klux Klan particularly in mind when it passed the 1871 act.

He said the bill was not directed against the Klan or its members "but those who, representing a state in some capacity, were unable or unwilling to enforce a state law."

In his complaint, James Monroe claimed 13 policemen investigating a murder case broke into his apartment on Oct. 29, 1958, and struck, kicked and shoved members of his family.

Monroe said a detective hit him repeatedly and called him "nigger" and "black boy." Monroe was taken to police headquarters, questioned about the murder, and released after 10 hours without any charge being filed against him.

He said the police officers had no search warrant.

Percy Grainger, 78, Noted Composer, Dies

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Composer Percy Grainger, 78, whose smaller compositions and arrangements of English folk tunes brought him fame on at least two continents, died Monday in White Plains Hospital.

Grainger was known by pops-concert-goers for such works as "Molly on the Shore," "Shepherd's Hey," "Country Gardens," and "Handel in the Strand."

He was also a concert pianist, having appeared in public for the first time at the age of 10 as a child prodigy.

He used the name Percy Aldridge Grainger, but he was born George Percy Grainger in Melbourne, Australia, July 8, 1882. He went to England in 1900, and came to the United States in 1915.

Tshombe Warns United Nations

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe warned the United Nations Monday Katangans will oppose any attempt to replace their Belgian technicians and advisers with a U.N. "colonial regime." He said a bloodbath would result.

"Any attempt to install a new colonial regime—a United Nations regime—will result in a bloodbath for which the United Nations will carry the whole responsibility," Tshombe told U.N. representative Ian Berendsen in a note which was released to newsmen.

"The intention of the United Nations to eliminate from all territories of the former Belgian Congo all technical aid which does not pass through U.N. channels appears to the Katanga government to deprive us of the benefits we enjoy in exploiting means at our disposal. Such benefits would go instead to profit the United Nations or some of its intermediaries."

Defense Rests In Rees Trial

BALTIMORE (AP)—The defense rested its case Monday in the federal kidnap trial of Melvin Davis Rees Jr., 32, of Hyattsville, Md.

The dance band musician, charged with kidnaping a Virginia mother and daughter two years ago for the purpose of killing them, did not testify in his own behalf.

Chief District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen said testimony would be completed Tuesday, 16th day of the trial which began Jan. 25. He set for Wednesday morning opposing attorneys' final arguments to the U. S. District Court Jury.

An indictment returned under the Lindbergh Law accuses Rees of taking Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27, of Apple Grove, Va., and her daughter, Susan, 5, across the Maryland - Virginia line. Their bodies were found buried near Gambrills, Md., March 22, 1959.

All four members of the Jackson family had disappeared Jan. 11 of that year from a rural road near their home. The husband, Carroll V. Jackson Jr., 29, and another daughter, Janet, 1½, were found slain near Fredericksburg, Va. — also that March.

Hammarskjold opened the morning session with the announcement that he had just received word of the execution of six pro-Lumumba officials transferred recently from Leopoldville to Bakwanga in Kasai Province.

Major Flooding Along Potomac Not Expected

By The Associated Press

Rain was forecast for portions of Maryland Tuesday, but the Weather Bureau said there was no immediate prospect of dangerous flooding from the swollen Potomac River.

Some slight flooding on the Upper Potomac was possible, the Weather Bureau said, but no appreciable damage was expected.

Some areas along the river already have experienced flooding as the big runoff of melting snow and weekend rain swelled water levels.

The new rain, continuing into Wednesday, is expected to be followed by an additional warming trend in the state, where temperatures in the 40s were general Monday.

The possibility of heavy flood activity along the river has been lessened by the steady movement of ice without any serious ice jams.

The Potomac was near its banks in many sections, and lowland regions likely will experience some dampness, the Weather bureau said.

Scores of boats tied up along the river's bank west of Hagerstown were swept downstream Saturday as ice gave way and the water level rose to 14.6 feet above its normal level.

Ice still moving on the river showed no signs, however, of endangering shipping or bridges along the Potomac.

Tydings Named U.S. Attorney For Maryland

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph D. Tydings, a Democratic member of Maryland's House of Delegates, was nominated Monday by President Kennedy to be U. S. attorney for Maryland.

Tydings, 32, is the son of the late Millard E. Tydings, a U. S. senator from Maryland for 24 years until 1950.

The younger Tydings managed Kennedy's presidential primary campaign in Maryland last year and served as campaign coordinator for Delaware and Florida in the general election.

As U. S. attorney he will receive a salary of $17,500 a year. The nomination is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Tydings served as a corporal with the 6th Calvary Group of the 3rd Army in Germany. After military service he attended the University of Maryland and was graduated from the university's law school in 1953. He then joined his father's law firm, Tydings and Rosenberg in Baltimore.

Tydings was elected to the Maryland House in 1955 and was reelected to a second four-year term in 1959.

His home is at Oakington, Havre de Grace, Md.

Allegheny River Flood Threat Eases

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A massive ice gorge broke free 43 miles north of here Monday and moved swiftly down the Allegheny River easing a threat of a damaging flood in down-river communities.

The six-mile gorge, which jammed at East Brady, Pa., cracked loose with a roar shortly before 11 a.m. EST. Hugh ice blocks had created the jam in the narrow gorges where the Allegheny twists and turns through the mountains.

Ross Webb, Civil Defense director for western Pennsylvania, said if present conditions continue "we will not have the trouble we expected." He said a forecasted drop in temperatures to the 20s Monday night would slow down the river.

Court Upholds Negroes' Suit Against Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that public officials accused of using their authority to violate the constitutional rights of citizens may be sued for damages in federal courts under an 1871 civil rights law.

The court unanimously reinstated a suit brought by a Chicago Negro, his wife and six children against 13 Chicago policemen.

But the court held that the City of Chicago cannot be sued under the act for allegedly unlawful acts of its police officers.

The Negro family lost its suit in both the U. S. Dist. Court and the U. S. Court of Appeals in Chicago. These courts ruled that the family had no remedy under the old civil rights law, known as the Ku Klux Act.

In its ruling Monday, the high court held that public officials who misuse their badge of authority are subject to damage suits but that Congress in passing the law did not make municipalities liable for damages.

Justice William O. Douglas, who spoke for the court, said Congress had the Ku Klux Klan particularly in mind when it passed the 1871 act.

He said the bill was not directed against the Klan or its members "but those who, representing a state in some capacity, were unable or unwilling to enforce a state law."

In his complaint, James Monroe claimed 13 policemen investigating a murder case broke into his apartment on Oct. 29, 1958, and struck, kicked and shoved members of his family.

Monroe said a detective hit him repeatedly and called him "nigger" and "black boy." Monroe was taken to police headquarters, questioned about the murder, and released after 10 hours without any charge being filed against him.

He said the police officers had no search warrant.

Percy Grainger, 78, Noted Composer, Dies

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Composer Percy Grainger, 78, whose smaller compositions and arrangements of English folk tunes brought him fame on at least two continents, died Monday in White Plains Hospital.

Grainger was known by pops-concert-goers for such works as "Molly on the Shore," "Shepherd's Hey," "Country Gardens," and "Handel in the Strand."

He was also a concert pianist, having appeared in public for the first time at the age of 10 as a child prodigy.

He used the name Percy Aldridge Grainger, but he was born George Percy Grainger in Melbourne, Australia, July 8, 1882. He went to England in 1900, and came to the United States in 1915.

Tshombe Warns United Nations

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe warned the United Nations Monday Katangans will oppose any attempt to replace their Belgian technicians and advisers with a U.N. "colonial regime." He said a bloodbath would result.

"Any attempt to install a new colonial regime—a United Nations regime—will result in a bloodbath for which the United Nations will carry the whole responsibility," Tshombe told U.N. representative Ian Berendsen in a note which was released to newsmen.

"The intention of the United Nations to eliminate from all territories of the former Belgian Congo all technical aid which does not pass through U.N. channels appears to the Katanga government to deprive us of the benefits we enjoy in exploiting means at our disposal. Such benefits would go instead to profit the United Nations or some of its intermediaries."

Defense Rests In Rees Trial

BALTIMORE (AP)—The defense rested its case Monday in the federal kidnap trial of Melvin Davis Rees Jr., 32, of Hyattsville, Md.

The dance band musician, charged with kidnaping a Virginia mother and daughter two years ago for the purpose of killing them, did not testify in his own behalf.

Chief District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen said testimony would be completed Tuesday, 16th day of the trial which began Jan. 25. He set for Wednesday morning opposing attorneys' final arguments to the U. S. District Court Jury.

An indictment returned under the Lindbergh Law accuses Rees of taking Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27, of Apple Grove, Va., and her daughter, Susan, 5, across the Maryland - Virginia line. Their bodies were found buried near Gambrills, Md., March 22, 1959.

All four members of the Jackson family had disappeared Jan. 11 of that year from a rural road near their home. The husband, Carroll V. Jackson Jr., 29, and another daughter, Janet, 1½, were found slain near Fredericksburg, Va. — also that March.

They were identified as Jean Finant, former president of Oriental Province; Maj. Fataki, former commander of the Stanleyville gendarmerie; a man named Nzuzi who was the president of the Lumumba youth movement: three men named Muzungu, Elengesa, and Yangara.

Major Flooding Along Potomac Not Expected

By The Associated Press

Rain was forecast for portions of Maryland Tuesday, but the Weather Bureau said there was no immediate prospect of dangerous flooding from the swollen Potomac River.

Some slight flooding on the Upper Potomac was possible, the Weather Bureau said, but no appreciable damage was expected.

Some areas along the river already have experienced flooding as the big runoff of melting snow and weekend rain swelled water levels.

The new rain, continuing into Wednesday, is expected to be followed by an additional warming trend in the state, where temperatures in the 40s were general Monday.

The possibility of heavy flood activity along the river has been lessened by the steady movement of ice without any serious ice jams.

The Potomac was near its banks in many sections, and lowland regions likely will experience some dampness, the Weather bureau said.

Scores of boats tied up along the river's bank west of Hagerstown were swept downstream Saturday as ice gave way and the water level rose to 14.6 feet above its normal level.

Ice still moving on the river showed no signs, however, of endangering shipping or bridges along the Potomac.

Pan American began laying off 20,000, Eastern 17,000. National already had idled 3,500 of its 4,000.

Eastern claimed to be keeping a majority of its jets in the air with the aid of supervisory employes. With National and Northeast, it is one of the main lines into Florida.

The flight engineers quit the six struck airlines last Friday night to protest a Feb. 6 decision by the National Mediation Board to blanket their union under the Airline Pilots Association.

Airman To Be Tried In Baltimore

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Marine Capt. Ernest G. Brace, 29, accused of deliberately wrecking his training plane Jan. 3, Monday was ordered removed to Baltimore to stand trial.

Brace, who appeared with attorney Edward A. Dragon, was freed in $5,000 bond for appearance at federal court in Baltimore.

No date has been set for the trial.

U.S. Commissioner Stanley King overruled a request by Dragon for a preliminary hearing in the case.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Harvey Cohen argued the indictment of Brace by a federal grand jury in Baltimore last week on a charge of willfully damaging Marine Corps property eliminated the need for the hearing.

Brace vanished after his North American T28B airplane crashed and burned near the Chesapeake Bay shore of Talbot County, Md.

He surrendered in Baltimore Jan. 13 after his flying suit was found concealed in brush near the crash.

An FBI complaint charged that Brace had made arrangements to have his luggage shipped to Baltimore and took out a $50,000 life insurance policy before the incident.

Zoo Temporary Home For Rare "White" Chimp

Snow, a 70 - pound, 6-year-old male chimp, arrived at the Baltimore Zoo Sunday to set up temporary residence.

Zoo director Arthur Watson hopes someone will purchase the chimp from an animal dealer and donate him to the zoo. He called the sale price "expensive but not exorbitant."

Watson contended Snow was more of a rarity than the white tiger at Washington Zoo.

"At least two or three other white tigers are known to be roaming the jungles of India," Watson said. "Only one white chimp is known to be in existence."

Snow, formerly owned by a couple in show business, was described as a color variation by Watson, and not a pure albino.

The chimp has reddish hair on his head, brown hair on his back, is tawney colored on his arms and chest, and his hands and face are white.

Contrary to a belief held by some persons, checks written on Sunday are valid.

Frederick family discovers telephone saves $9.55— gives 11 hours extra time— in two-week period

Linda Barrick enjoys her turn to talk with Dad, who's out-of-town on business.

Mrs. Samuel Barrick, at our request, recently completed a two-week "diary" of all her family's telephone calls. Where appropriate, she also estimated the amounts of time, traveling and money saved, by being able to phone.

At the end of two weeks, the Barricks' savings totaled $9.55, 11 hours and 214 miles of traveling!

Mrs. Barrick goes on to say that, in addition to these savings, "Some things just couldn't have been done if we didn't have a telephone . . . we'd certainly be lost without it."

Perhaps you'd like to see what your telephone does for you. Chances are you'll find, like Mrs. Barrick, that your telephone service gives much more than it costs.

Zoo Temporary Home For Rare "White" Chimp

Snow, a 70 - pound, 6-year-old male chimp, arrived at the Baltimore Zoo Sunday to set up temporary residence.

Zoo director Arthur Watson hopes someone will purchase the chimp from an animal dealer and donate him to the zoo. He called the sale price "expensive but not exorbitant."

Watson contended Snow was more of a rarity than the white tiger at Washington Zoo.

"At least two or three other white tigers are known to be roaming the jungles of India," Watson said. "Only one white chimp is known to be in existence."

Snow, formerly owned by a couple in show business, was described as a color variation by Watson, and not a pure albino.

The chimp has reddish hair on his head, brown hair on his back, is tawney colored on his arms and chest, and his hands and face are white.

Contrary to a belief held by some persons, checks written on Sunday are valid.

Frederick family discovers telephone saves $9.55– gives 11 hours extra time– in two-week period

Linda Barrick enjoys her turn to talk with Dad, who's out-of-town on business.

Mrs. Samuel Barrick, at our request, recently completed a two-week "diary" of all her family's telephone calls. Where appropriate, she also estimated the amounts of time, traveling and money saved, by being able to phone.

At the end of two weeks, the Barricks' savings totaled $9.55, 11 hours and 214 miles of traveling!

Mrs. Barrick goes on to say that, in addition to these savings, "Some things just couldn't have been done if we didn't have a telephone . . . we'd certainly be lost without it."

Perhaps you'd like to see what your telephone does for you. Chances are you'll find, like Mrs. Barrick, that your telephone service gives much more than it costs.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—The little matter of Montgomery Clift being in Puerto Rico resting and John Huston being in Ireland at his estate, didn't keep them from getting together on the telephone. Result—John is air-mailing the script of "Freud" to Monty and wants him for the starring role of the granddaddy of psychiatry.

Cliff never says "yes" about a movie until he has seen a script. But my bet is he accepts. Everyone says "Misfits" (which Huston directed) is the best thing Monty has done in years and he's always been interested in playing Freud.

First he makes "Judgment at Nuremburg," arriving here Thursday to start it.

Over the weekend Jerry Wald kept the telephone wires hot trying to locate Carol Lynley. Without too much success, however. He'll see her in New York when he goes there next Friday to offer her $45,000 for approximately 30 days work in "High Heels."

Carol wouldn't have to make a picture under her 20th Century-Fox contract until 1963 if she consents to do "High Heels." While he's in the East, Jerry will go to Washington to talk to Attorney General Robert Kennedy about filming Kennedy's story "The Enemy Within."

I was pleased to receive an autographed copy of the Gordon Gordon's latest novel "Operation Terror," which they sold at a record price for a terror tale of this type to Columbia.

They are two very nice people and are now reserving all the spare time they can find to fulfill some professional speaking engagements for a private charity project. When they were in Saigon, Vietnam, recently, researching another mystery book, they found two native Catholic nuns taking care of 600 children ranging in age from infancy to 10 years, under conditions of dire poverty. Every cent the Gordons can earn on their speaking tour goes to the nuns who called their institution the Go-Vat Orphanage.

Next month marks Joni James' 10th anniversary with MGM Records, and there'll be big doings. She's been posing for photographs over a week for Richard Avedon, and that isn't bad. He's the one who made those beautiful photographs of three-year-old Caroline Kennedy and her baby brother, John F., Jr.

Joni and Tony Aquaviva, her ever lovin' husband, have rented the Linda Christian home in Bel Air, with an option to buy. This is the one with the nude statue of Linda in the garden. I asked Joni what she intended doing with it. She said, "Oh, I'll just drape it."

Seems impossible that Joni has been with MGM records so long, but as I look back, I have been writing about her as the new MGM singer that long ago. Time does pass so quickly.

Perle Mesta leaves Feb. 28 for her home in Washington, D.C. "I never had any intention of selling my house," she told me. "I didn't vote for President Kennedy but he's our President now and I'd feel very unpatriotic if I didn't back him, especially now when there is so much trouble in the world."

Perle says she loves California and expects to spend more and more time here, and we're all very glad of that, because she's a gay, witty, well-informed person and lots of fun.

That traveling gal, Millie (Mrs. Bob) Considine, stopped off in Los Angeles en route to Palm Springs where she is the house guest of Nancy Holmes. Then on the 9th of March she and Bob take off for Israel where he will cover the Adolph Eichmann trial. Millie will get in a visit to Tel-Aviv where a new Sheraton Hotel is opening.

She says the famous task force of the Hearst Newspapers, Bob, Frank Conniff and last but not least, William Randolph Hearst, Jr., are planning to visit Africa. I do hope they won't go until conditions are better. I like them all too much to have them risk their lives even for the interesting stories they'll send back.

Even straight-bones legs can look bowed, if the outer curves are over-developed. But reshaping them is easy!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Reshape Your Legs This Simple Way

Do you have sabre calves? If you have them, you know that your legs give the appearance of being bowed, even though your bones are not malformed. Your legs have a marked outward curve of the outer side of the calf that destroys the beautiful line you want them to have.

Sabre calves are correctible. Simple posture and exercise corrections will work wonders.

To reshape and reduce the sabre curves of legs, perform this routine five times a day for a week and then increase gradually until you can run through it twenty times daily without feeling strain:

Remove your shoes and stand on your tiptoes, feet together, on a rug or carpet. Twist your knee caps away from each other, just as though you were turning doorknobs in opposite directions. Holding the twist, bend your knees as far as you can. Try to touch your hips to your heels—but watch it—don't let your feet slip out of position!

Whenever you can during the day, stand erect and take a few minutes to practice this supplementary routine: Twist your knee caps outward and hold the position for a count of five. In this way, you can give additional training to the muscles that need it without much extra physical effort on your part.

Learn to monitor your posture during every minute of your waking hours. That is to say, be sure that you stand and walk with relaxed knees. The moment you stiffen your knees, you not only accentuate the bowline of the calves (as you can prove to yourself before a mirror) but you also put an unnatural amount of body pressure on the outer calf muscles. Such pressure will undo all the benefits of your corrective exercises and will tend to increase the muscles you are working to smooth into longer, smoother lines. Relax . . . and beautify!

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it possible that I am allergic to my husband? I'm perfectly fine every day after he leaves for work. I hum and sing as I do the housework. The minute I hear his key in the lock my heart begins to pound like a hammer. I feel faint and sometimes I get dizzy. Often during dinner I am nauseated and can only pick at my food.

When we visit friends or relatives together I feel uneasy and sometimes I shake for no reason. When I see these people without him I'm perfectly at ease.

My husband is a domineering man. His relatives call him "Mr. Always Right." It seems as if I am always on the defensive. What does this sound like to you?

—ALWAYS WRONG

DEAR ALWAYS: You're on the right track. Your awareness that the presence of your husband has a harmful physical effect on you is a good beginning. Many women go through life half sick, without the foggiest notion of what ails them. (Sometimes it's a mother, a mother-in-law, a brother or a Dutch uncle.)

You need outside help. Ask your doctor to have a talk with your husband. And ask him if he thinks both you and your husband need therapy — or just you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The other evening I wandered into a cocktail lounge and seated myself next to an attractive woman at the bar. She seemed friendly so I was friendly, too. After about 10 minutes of conversation she made it plain that she'd like dinner and a night on the town. I was interested in a more intimate evening. She called the manager and asked that I be thrown out. I was.

What I want to know is this: I've always understood that a single woman in a bar who is easy to talk to is fair game for a proposition. Why should she be "insulted" and ask the manager to throw out a guy who asks? She could decline the offer without a fuss, couldn't she? Your opinion, please.—

PLAYING IT STRAIGHT

DEAR PLAYING IT: When a shopper sees an item on the bargain counter he has a right to assume it's available. A girl who sits alone at a bar and "looks friendly" puts herself in the same category.

Such a girl has no right to feign indignation when she is propositioned. If she didn't want company she'd be at home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a junior in high school and brokenhearted. We have lived in this house since I was six years old and I love it. I've grown up with the same kids and our high school is the greatest.

My father's business is 10 miles away. Suddenly he has decided he hates to drive so much and he wants to move. The thought of not graduating with my friends makes me sick. I've tried to make dad see how important this is to me but he says it's childish and that once I'm in another school I'll forget all about this one. Please, Ann help me. I am getting physically ill over this.—

CRACKING UP

DEAR CRACKING: If this means so much to you why not ask for permission to room and board with a close friend's family five days a week and go home weekends? Such an arrangement would let you finish high school with your friends and would solve your problem neatly. Good luck.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Would a $10,000 Check Make YOU Unhappy?

Couldn't possibly, you say?

We've been told about a man who received just that in the morning mail a few weeks ago and he was most unhappy.

You see, his house had just burned down and the $10,000 check was the full amount called for in the insurance policy covering his home and furnishings. Unfortunately, it will take almost $20,000 for our friend to replace what was lost. Good reason to be unhappy, especially when a periodic check-up of his insurance coverage could have prevented this loss.

Federal Aid For County Schools Set

Allegany County would receive $877,600 in the next three fiscal years starting in 1962 for classroom construction and-or teachers' salaries under the education recommendations sent to Congress yesterday by President Kennedy.

The estimated figure for the state of Maryland for the year beginning next July 1 would be $8,976,670, an average of $16.06 in average daily attendance in public schools.

As Allegany County has approximately 16,000 students, the initial year would provide the Board of Education with $257,440.

The estimated amounts for Maryland would go to a $10,773,691 in fiscal year 1963; $18.32 per pupil and to $12,629,855, an average of $20.44 in fiscal year 1964.

Applying these average figures to this county would mean $293,120 in fiscal year 1963 and $327,040 in fiscal year 1964.

This total of $877,600 could mean much to the school program in this county. The Board of Education, in announcing a $5,000,000 school construction program which is pending in the General Assembly, pointed out that federal funds would possibly be forthcoming.

West Virginia: $10,658,865 for 1962, an average of $25.56 per pupil; $12,110,817 for 1963, an average of $29.11 per pupil; $13,443,253 for 1964, an average of $24.99 per pupil.

Pennsylvania: $26,880,000 for 1962, an average of $15 per pupil; $30,986,280 for 1963, an average of $17.06 per pupil; $34,942,097 for 1964, an average of $19.03 per pupil,

District of Columbia: $1,620,000 for 1962; $1,620,000 for 1963, $1,635,000 for 1964; each year's total would represent an average of $15 per pupil in average daily attendance.

Virginia: $14,846,093, an average of $22.88 per pupil, for 1962; $20,821,009, an average of $26.06 per pupil, for 1963; $23,746,498, an average of $29.07 per pupil, for 1964.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maryland would receive 387 scholarships worth $270,900 for fiscal year 1962 under the education recommendations sent to Congress yesterday by President Kennedy.

For the fiscal years 1963 through 1966, a total of 2,905 new scholarships would be made available to Maryland, at a cost of $2,033,500.

Allocations for other states, giving the scholarships and amounts for 1962 and then 1963-66, include:

Pennsylvania—1,631, $1,141,700; 12,233, $8,563,100.

District of Columbia—79, $55,300; 594, $415,800.

Winter Damage To City Streets Worst In History

The extensive damage to city streets, resulting from the severe winter weather, and the need of a study to determine steps that can be taken to correct the condition were stressed at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council by Street Commissioner John J. Long.

Terming this winter "probably the worst in history," as far as street damage is concerned, Commissioner Long made a motion that City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum make a study of the problem and place recommendations for consideration by the Mayor and Council. The motion passed unanimously.

The commissioner explained that blacktop material is not available during winter months, and that potholes are being repaired with cold-mix—which he termed both expensive and unsatisfactory since it does not hold up under heavy traffic.

Mentioned particularly as in need of attention was Wineow Street, which Commissioner Long said presents a drainage problem as well as a surfacing "headache."

The Wineow Street subway also is in serious need of attention, he continued, although it was pointed out in a pre-council session that any permanent work on the subway is not feasible since the facility will be closed when work is started on the approach from that area to the overhead span which will be constructed by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Commissioner Long's statement, in part, follows:

"All of the members of the Mayor and Council, I am sure, are aware of the damage done to almost all of the streets in Cumberland this winter. I feel that the city engineer should be instructed to make an immediate study of the present conditions of all of the streets and make recommendations as to what action should be taken to put them in the best possible condition.

"We have been unable to secure blacktop and naturally concrete cannot be used in weather such as we have been having and the only thing that is available at this time is what is known as a 'cold mix,' which costs $11 per ton.

"The use of cold mix has not been satisfactory due to the fact that the patched area is almost as bad several days after the repairing as it was before.

"The city engineer's study will also show the approximate cost to make the necessary repairs.

"It may be that the city will have to purchase some type of equipment which could manufacture a substance that could be used to repair streets during the winter months until such time as the local blacktop plants reopen."

Boch Honored By LaVale Unit

Paul Boch, assistant chief, was presented the plaque as having been selected fireman-of-the-year by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department at the unit's annual dinner Saturday night.

The presentation was made by Henry Wintermyer, president, who said the honor was bestowed on him by the company for being outstanding in committee and department work.

The invocation was given by Rev. James E. Perry, pastor of LaVale Methodist Church, and the flag salute was led by Cromwell C. Zembower.

Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul, led the memorial service for deceased members.

Toastmaster was Myer Abramson of Cumberland and the speaker was John J. Hafer local furniture store and funeral establishment owner, on "Communism vs Capitalism."

The committee on arrangements include Bruce Long III, chairman; James H. Loar, Alvin G. Youngblood Sr., Thomas L. Smith and George Hickle.

Prisoner Sets Bedding Afire

Sunday about 6 a.m. prisoners in the Allegany County jail awoke to find their cells filled with smoke.

Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein said that one man had ignited two mattresses and a blanket and the smouldering bedclothing caused a pall of smoke. The windows were thrown open and the prisoners were chilled, but able to breathe.

The prisoner responsible for the incident was moved to a cell with a bunk which had no mattress or blankets.

Federal Aid For County Schools Set

Allegany County would receive $877,600 in the next three fiscal years starting in 1962 for classroom construction and-or teachers' salaries under the education recommendations sent to Congress yesterday by President Kennedy.

The estimated figure for the state of Maryland for the year beginning next July 1 would be $8,976,670, an average of $16.06 in average daily attendance in public schools.

As Allegany County has approximately 16,000 students, the initial year would provide the Board of Education with $257,440.

The estimated amounts for Maryland would go to a $10,773,691 in fiscal year 1963; $18.32 per pupil and to $12,629,855, an average of $20.44 in fiscal year 1964.

Applying these average figures to this county would mean $293,120 in fiscal year 1963 and $327,040 in fiscal year 1964.

This total of $877,600 could mean much to the school program in this county. The Board of Education, in announcing a $5,000,000 school construction program which is pending in the General Assembly, pointed out that federal funds would possibly be forthcoming.

West Virginia: $10,658,865 for 1962, an average of $25.56 per pupil; $12,110,817 for 1963, an average of $29.11 per pupil; $13,443,253 for 1964, an average of $24.99 per pupil.

Pennsylvania: $26,880,000 for 1962, an average of $15 per pupil; $30,986,280 for 1963, an average of $17.06 per pupil; $34,942,097 for 1964, an average of $19.03 per pupil,

District of Columbia: $1,620,000 for 1962; $1,620,000 for 1963, $1,635,000 for 1964; each year's total would represent an average of $15 per pupil in average daily attendance.

Virginia: $14,846,093, an average of $22.88 per pupil, for 1962; $20,821,009, an average of $26.06 per pupil, for 1963; $23,746,498, an average of $29.07 per pupil, for 1964.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maryland would receive 387 scholarships worth $270,900 for fiscal year 1962 under the education recommendations sent to Congress yesterday by President Kennedy.

For the fiscal years 1963 through 1966, a total of 2,905 new scholarships would be made available to Maryland, at a cost of $2,033,500.

Allocations for other states, giving the scholarships and amounts for 1962 and then 1963-66, include:

Pennsylvania—1,631, $1,141,700; 12,233, $8,563,100.

West Virginia—337, $235,900; 2,524, $1,766,800.

District of Columbia—79, $55,300; 594, $415,800.

Winter Damage To City Streets Worst In History

The extensive damage to city streets, resulting from the severe winter weather, and the need of a study to determine steps that can be taken to correct the condition were stressed at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council by Street Commissioner John J. Long.

Terming this winter "probably the worst in history," as far as street damage is concerned, Commissioner Long made a motion that City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum make a study of the problem and place recommendations for consideration by the Mayor and Council. The motion passed unanimously.

The commissioner explained that blacktop material is not available during winter months, and that potholes are being repaired with cold-mix—which he termed both expensive and unsatisfactory since it does not hold up under heavy traffic.

Mentioned particularly as in need of attention was Wineow Street, which Commissioner Long said presents a drainage problem as well as a surfacing "headache."

The Wineow Street subway also is in serious need of attention, he continued, although it was pointed out in a pre-council session that any permanent work on the subway is not feasible since the facility will be closed when work is started on the approach from that area to the overhead span which will be constructed by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Commissioner Long's statement, in part, follows:

"All of the members of the Mayor and Council, I am sure, are aware of the damage done to almost all of the streets in Cumberland this winter. I feel that the city engineer should be instructed to make an immediate study of the present conditions of all of the streets and make recommendations as to what action should be taken to put them in the best possible condition.

"We have been unable to secure blacktop and naturally concrete cannot be used in weather such as we have been having and the only thing that is available at this time is what is known as a 'cold mix,' which costs $11 per ton.

"The use of cold mix has not been satisfactory due to the fact that the patched area is almost as bad several days after the repairing as it was before.

"The city engineer's study will also show the approximate cost to make the necessary repairs.

"It may be that the city will have to purchase some type of equipment which could manufacture a substance that could be used to repair streets during the winter months until such time as the local blacktop plants reopen."

The Museum The Public Doesn't See

The two million people who visit the American Museum of Natural History in New York each year have the privilege of viewing one of the largest and richest collections from the world of science ever assembled in one place.

Yet the public sees only a small part of what the museum houses, and only a few of the 550 employes who make up the staff.

Most of the museum's collection, and most of the staff are away from the exhibit floors. For instance, there are stowed away two million anthropological specimens, ten million insects, 100,000 mammals, amphibians and reptiles, 800,000 bird specimens, 70,000 fossil vertebrates and 20,000 fishes.

This vast collection takes up acres of space. Before some of it is put up for public viewing, the live specimens must be fed and cared for, the rare objects must be cleaned and put in perfect condition, and new objects on arrival from places far and wide must be unpacked carefully and then skillfully assembled.

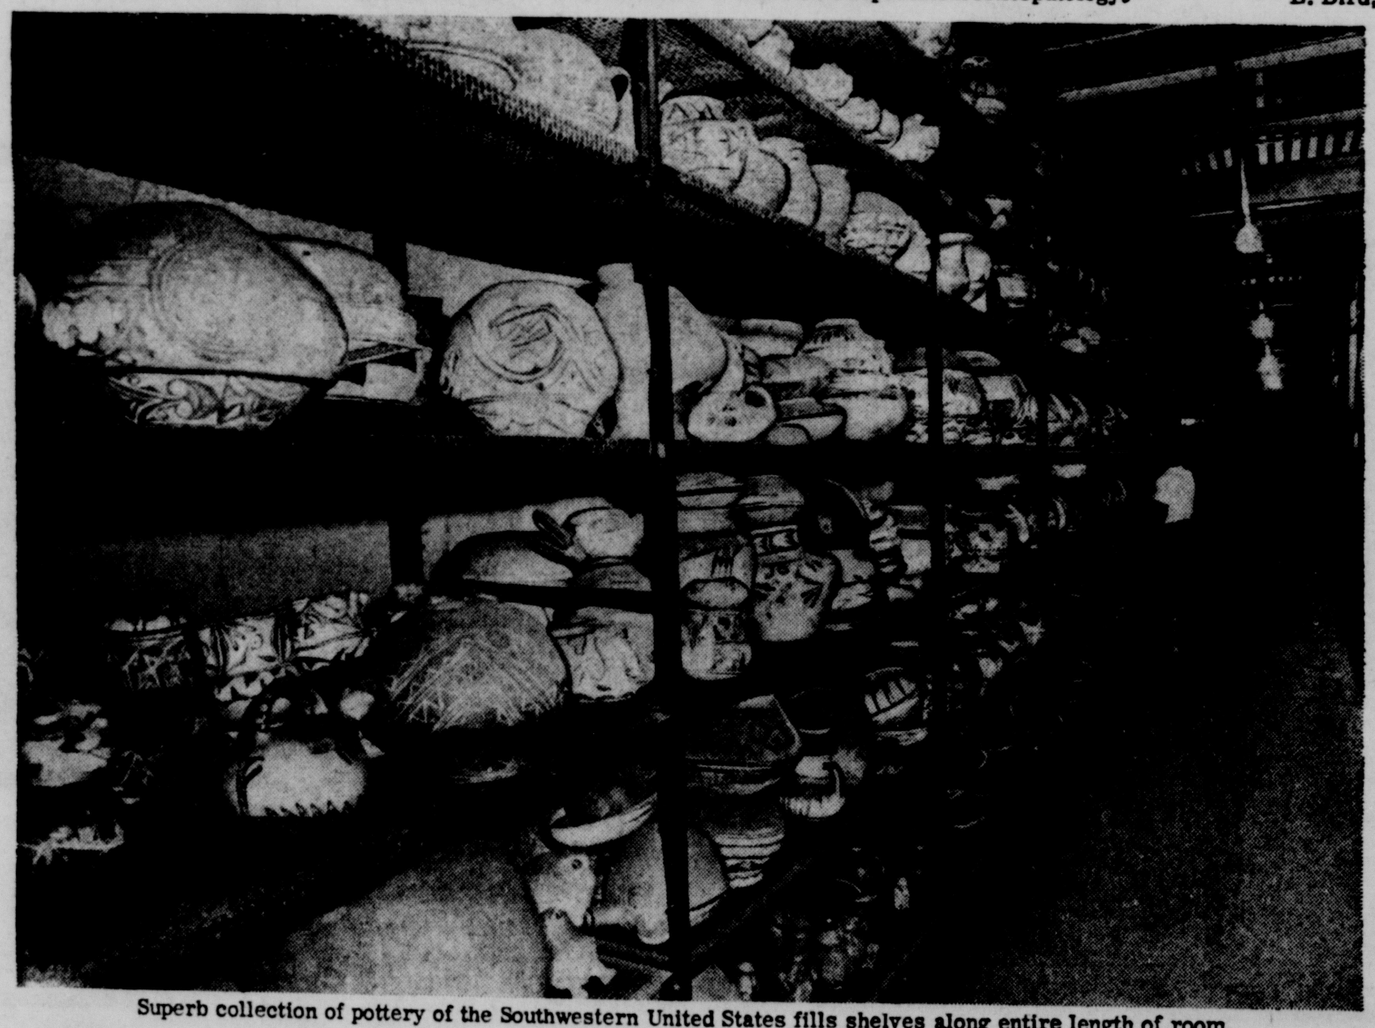
NOT TOO FRIENDLY. Charles M. Bogert copes with rambunctious South American iguana at American Museum of Natural History. He's chairman of the museum's department of herpatology.

PERUVIAN RELICS. Mary Stenbuck, assistant to curator of South American archeology, Dr. Junius B. Bird, studies ceramics of the Gallinazo period (shortly before Christ) from Viru Valley of Peru.



Superb collection of pottery of the Southwestern United States fills shelves along entire length of room.

Staff assistant Raymond DeLucia works on peccary habitat group which will be shown to public. Scene reproduces an area of the Big Bend National Park in Texas.

Dr. Junius B. Bird catalogues stone instruments of crude design found in Peru and dating from about 1000 B. C.

Ceramic specialist Robert Sonin works on restoration of an ancient rare and superb llama, made of silver.

George Whitaker, staff preparator for department of vertebrate paleontology makes final adjustment on dorsal vertebra of dinosaur Haplocantosaurus, which he is mounting.

House Promises Vote Tomorrow On Drink Bill

W. Va. Referendum To Be Considered

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House of Delegates Monday set Wednesday for determining whether West Virginians will have an opportunity to vote in 1962 on whether they want to allow sale of liquor-by-the-drink in the state.

A Senate - approved resolution calling for a Constitutional referendum on the question was read a first time in the House after Del. J. E. Watson, D-Marion, won approval of a motion to dispense with committee reference.

This means it will be at second reading — the amendment stage — Tuesday and a vote will be taken Wednesday. Proponents of the proposal said they believe they have the strength to win the two - thirds majority (67 votes) necessary for adoption.

The House disposed of the liquor matter, for the day, without any debate. This probably will come Tuesday and Wednesday. The delegates consumed a great majority of a long session which lasted well into the evening debating proposed "Marshall University" proposal.

After a debate of nearly two hours, the delegates defeated, 59-41, a resolution aimed at delaying the Marshall-U designation. It would have set up a year's study of the matter. It was after dark before they got down to the bill itself to make the name-change.

Motion Passed 73-24

Watson's motion to speed up action of the whisky proposal by one day came when the House received a formal message noting adoption of the resolution in the Senate last Friday. He first asked unanimous consent to dispense with committee reference because a House version of the resolution already is on the calendar.

Del. J. Paul England, D-Wyoming, an acknowledged "dry," objected. Watson then asked in effect, that it be done on a majority vote and won approval on a 73-24 roll call.

Although the 73 votes was well above the two-thirds necessary when the proposal reaches a final vote, the prime supporters were cautious in seeing any significance in that vote.

Neither Watson nor Del. Chester Hubbard, R-Ohio, main proponents of the "wet" proposal in the House felt this was an indication of how many votes the resolution would get at passage stage. Watson pointed out that his move merely stepped up the final vote by a day and some "drys" might have been in favor of this feature.

The House passed and sent to the Senate for concurrence bills to:

— Prohibit the employment of so-called professional strikebreakers to replace employes involved in a labor dispute (94-5).

— Change election of political party executive committee members to "off-year" elections starting in 1966 in order to reduce the size of the ballot in presidential election years (85-15).

2 Bills Defeated

— Allow West Virginia University to operate parking facilities on the campus at Morgantown (97-3).

The House defeated two bills—one to allow probation and parole officers to carry a gun without obtaining a license and one to allow county courts to adopt building codes.

The House Judiciary Committee sent to the floor with a recommendation for passage a bill to remove a prohibition against chiropractors being used to treat workmen's compensation cases.

The Senate, in a 50 minute session, passed 31-1 by identical votes, four local measures, one of which went to Gov. W. W. Barron for signature. It gave the Hampshire County Court permission to transfer $20,000 to the Memorial Hospital fund.

The other three were separate bills to give county courts in Lewis, Grant and Hardy Counties authority to use unexpended funds for courthouse construction projects.

House Approves University Plan For Marshall

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House of Delegates, in its longest debate on a single issue thus far, passed 57-43 Monday night its version of a bill to give university status to Marshall College.

The House chose to act on its own measure rather than wait until Wednesday to vote on an identical Senate-approved version.

The Senate now will have to vote again on the proposal, but this apparently will be only a formality since it adopted a "carbon-copy" bill 20-11 last Thursday. Enactment likely will come Thursday.

The passage vote in the House came after delegates spent nearly four hours debating a resolution which would have postponed consideration of the name change until the 1962 session, and an amendment to put the new university under control of the present West Virginia University Board of Governors.

Del. J. E. Watson, D-Marion, tried to tack on the watering-down provision which would have placed jurisdiction of "Marshall University" in the hands of the WVU Board of Governors.

Watson's amendment was adopted 52-47, after a two - hour debate, but didn't stick. The delegates approved, 52-48, a motion to reconsider their action, and a little later reversed themselves and defeated the Watson amendment 51-49.

Watson led the fight against the bill. A WVU Law School graduate, the Marion County Democrat took on two Marshall graduates from Huntington, Dels. J. Bernard Poindexter and Hugh Kincaid, who engineered the proponent's arguments.

Watson hit hardest at his amendment to bring Marshall under control of the university board. "The board of governors has had experience in handling university - type of schools and it would be of extreme benefit to Marshall to have its counseling," he argued.

Kincaid, admitting this was an important feature, suggested maybe one board should control both schools in the future, but not at present. "I have no doubt this will come to pass, but it should be the subject of another bill when the whole picture of higher education is studied."

Del. Roy Lee Harmon, D-Raleigh, suggested the amendment, if adopted, would have made "another Potomac State out of Marshall College." Potomac is a junior college under control of the board of governors.

House Promises Vote Tomorrow On Drink Bill

W. Va. Referendum To Be Considered

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House of Delegates Monday set Wednesday for determining whether West Virginians will have an opportunity to vote in 1962 on whether they want to allow sale of liquor-by-the-drink in the state.

A Senate - approved resolution calling for a Constitutional referendum on the question was read a first time in the House after Del. J. E. Watson, D-Marion, won approval of a motion to dispense with committee reference.

This means it will be at second reading — the amendment stage — Tuesday and a vote will be taken Wednesday. Proponents of the proposal said they believe they have the strength to win the two - thirds majority (67 votes) necessary for adoption.

The House disposed of the liquor matter, for the day, without any debate. This probably will come Tuesday and Wednesday. The delegates consumed a great majority of a long session which lasted well into the evening debating proposed "Marshall University" proposal.

After a debate of nearly two hours, the delegates defeated, 59-41, a resolution aimed at delaying the Marshall-U designation. It would have set up a year's study of the matter. It was after dark before they got down to the bill itself to make the name-change.

Motion Passed 73-24

Watson's motion to speed up action of the whisky proposal by one day came when the House received a formal message noting adoption of the resolution in the Senate last Friday. He first asked unanimous consent to dispense with committee reference because a House version of the resolution already is on the calendar.

Del. J. Paul England, D-Wyoming, an acknowledged "dry," objected. Watson then asked in effect, that it be done on a majority vote and won approval on a 73-24 roll call.

Although the 73 votes was well above the two-thirds necessary when the proposal reaches a final vote, the prime supporters were cautious in seeing any significance in that vote.

Neither Watson nor Del. Chester Hubbard, R-Ohio, main proponents of the "wet" proposal in the House felt this was an indication of how many votes the resolution would get at passage stage. Watson pointed out that his move merely stepped up the final vote by a day and some "drys" might have been in favor of this feature.

The House passed and sent to the Senate for concurrence bills to:

— Prohibit the employment of so-called professional strikebreakers to replace employes involved in a labor dispute (94-5).

— Change election of political party executive committee members to "off-year" elections starting in 1966 in order to reduce the size of the ballot in presidential election years (85-15).

2 Bills Defeated

— Allow West Virginia University to operate parking facilities on the campus at Morgantown (97-3).

The House defeated two bills—one to allow probation and parole officers to carry a gun without obtaining a license and one to allow county courts to adopt building codes.

The House Judiciary Committee sent to the floor with a recommendation for passage a bill to remove a prohibition against chiropractors being used to treat workmen's compensation cases.

The Senate, in a 50 minute session, passed 31-1 by identical votes, four local measures, one of which went to Gov. W. W. Barron for signature. It gave the Hampshire County Court permission to transfer $20,000 to the Memorial Hospital fund.

The other three were separate bills to give county courts in Lewis, Grant and Hardy Counties authority to use unexpended funds for courthouse construction projects.

House Approves University Plan For Marshall

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House of Delegates, in its longest debate on a single issue thus far, passed 57-43 Monday night its version of a bill to give university status to Marshall College.

The House chose to act on its own measure rather than wait until Wednesday to vote on an identical Senate-approved version.

The Senate now will have to vote again on the proposal, but this apparently will be only a formality since it adopted a "carbon-copy" bill 20-11 last Thursday. Enactment likely will come Thursday.

The passage vote in the House came after delegates spent nearly four hours debating a resolution which would have postponed consideration of the name change until the 1962 session, and an amendment to put the new university under control of the present West Virginia University Board of Governors.

Del. J. E. Watson, D-Marion, tried to tack on the watering-down provision which would have placed jurisdiction of "Marshall University" in the hands of the WVU Board of Governors.

Watson's amendment was adopted 52-47, after a two - hour debate, but didn't stick. The delegates approved, 52-48, a motion to reconsider their action, and a little later reversed themselves and defeated the Watson amendment 51-49.

Watson led the fight against the bill. A WVU Law School graduate, the Marion County Democrat took on two Marshall graduates from Huntington, Dels. J. Bernard Poindexter and Hugh Kincaid, who engineered the proponent's arguments.

Watson hit hardest at his amendment to bring Marshall under control of the university board. "The board of governors has had experience in handling university - type of schools and it would be of extreme benefit to Marshall to have its counseling," he argued.

Kincaid, admitting this was an important feature, suggested maybe one board should control both schools in the future, but not at present. "I have no doubt this will come to pass, but it should be the subject of another bill when the whole picture of higher education is studied."

Del. Roy Lee Harmon, D-Raleigh, suggested the amendment, if adopted, would have made "another Potomac State out of Marshall College." Potomac is a junior college under control of the board of governors.

Of the first group certified, 816 were placed on State Road Commission lists in 17 counties and 257 in nine counties were referred to the Conservation Commission for assignments. Eleven men were hired for cleanup work on the state capitol buildings and grounds.

The highest number of applications were reported in McDowell County where 1,460 persons filed. Others including Kanawha 1,412, Raleigh 1,159, Fayette 974, Marion 809, Clay 799, Monongalia 651, Webster 647, Logan 602, and Harrison 564 to round out the top 10.

Funds for the program will come out of a temporary increase in the consumer sales tax passed by the Legislature last month. Barron said at the time he hoped to provide jobs for some 5,000 workers at $1 an hour.

Hicks said Monday that registration of unemployed workers would continue at Road Commission and Conservation Commission offices around the state under the old "STEP" program.

Cost Of Repairs To Streets Listed

Reports from the city engineer on the total costs and costs of the individual property owner from four street improvement projects were presented at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

A number of residents appeared to question and protest the costs, with the majority appearing satisfied after their questions were answered.

Total cost of improving Pearre Avenue from its intersection with Frederick Street to its intersection with Bedford Street was placed at $11,884.56 by City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum. Oscar Nash, 115 Pearre Avenue, questioned the charge to property owners who had installed curbing at their own cost, and was informed that adjustments will be made in billing.

Nash also asked why the total cost was larger than the contractor's bid, and it was explained that additional charges result from advertising, engineering fees and other required expenses. The cost per lineal foot is $4.06, or $6.06, depending on the work done.

Cost of improving Williams Street from Hill Top Drive to Avondale Avenue was placed at $10,792.88, with the property owner's share being $1.54. One resident of that street, Walter Collins, was told that an additional charge of 50 cents per lineal foot is being assessed where blacktop curbing was done.

Improvement of Forster Avenue from Frederick to Bedford Street was placed at $9,960.80, with the property owner's share being $5.55 per lineal foot. The installation of a sewer line on Brown Avenue from Euclid Avenue to Tonkaway Avenue cost $2,888.16, with a charge of $2.64 per foot made to the property owners.

Introductory ordinances for improving three other streets were re-read yesterday since they had not been advertised within the required time from the first reading on February 6.

The ordinances covered improvement of East First Street from Wempe Drive to Somerville Avenue, Somerville Avenue from East First Street to Fourth Street, and Memorial Avenue from First Street to Fourth Street.

Orvel A. Howell, of East First Street, and Harry Smith, LaVale, who owns property there, appeared to protest the improvement, pointing out that it would create a financial hardship on residents. A petition with 12 signatures also was presented in protest to the First Street project.

Howell and Smith were told by William R. Carscaden, city attorney, that the work has been scheduled to complete a contract with the Federal Housing Authority. Completion of the projects, he explained, will not only result in money to help finance the city's share of the work, but also will put the Jane Frazier Village housing on the city's tax books.

Meter Total Down

Receipts from the city's parking meters for the week ended February 12 totaled $500.15, according to a report to the Mayor and Council yesterday by Harry M. Whisner, meter inspector. The total was $79.30 less than the amount reported for the preceding week.

PTA Makes Request For Police Guards

A recommendation that Parent-Teacher associations and persons interested in obtaining police protection at school crossings present their problems to the Allegany County Commissioners was made by Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming yesterday.

The advice was offered by Commissioner Fleming in a statement he made at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council in answer to a petition that requested such protection at busy intersections used by students at Johnson Heights School.

Signed by 75 persons, the petition asked that police be assigned to the intersection of Memorial Avenue and Oldtown Road, and where Louisiana Avenue, Hill Top Drive and Williams Road meet.

Commissioner Fleming started off by explaining that such protection is a manpower and money problem to the Police Department. Approximately 15 additional patrolmen would be needed to grant such protection at the various sites where it has been requested, he pointed out.

That many more men, he continued, would cost the city about $60,000, or about a seven per cent increase in the tax rate. The commissioner said since the tax rate is within a few mills of its legal limit such an increase is impossible.

In advancing his thought that the county should be responsible for police protection at crossings, Commissioner Fleming pointed out that the county provides school bus transportation, and police protection is a logical advance from that service.

The commissioner said it is his opinion residents of Cumberland are not getting the full value of their tax dollar. And as an instance he said that approximately $6,000 of the $10,000 which the county is providing for Miners Hospital in Frostburg comes from taxes paid by local residents.

The Police Department recognizes the problem, Commissioner Fleming said, explaining that Chief of Police B. F. Gaffney has assigned one of the city's motor scooters to patrol the South Cumberland and Johnson Heights region. The plan has proved so successful that Chief Gaffney is considering expanding the use of scooters to other sections as well, the commissioner said.

The lack of manpower, he continued, was especially felt one day recently when only seven men were available for patrol duty during one shift.

The Police Department earlier in the year had assigned an officer to show safety films at all the schools in the county, Commissioner Fleming said. It is the general opinion that the project was effective since at one school an adult patrol was formed for crossings.

Roy C. Hansrote, 25 Massachusetts Avenue, appeared at the council meeting as a representative of the Johnson Heights PTA. He asked as to whether a member of an adult patrol had any authority to regulate traffic, and was informed that a legal opinion would be required. He indicated that he would present the recommendation made by Commissioner Fleming to the PTA.

Drivers, Firms Reach Terms

A new three-year contract has been reached by Cumberland Local 453, Teamsters Union, with six large trucking firms which are out of Bedford and Somerset.

C. E. Stutzman and Joseph Freno, business agents for the union, reported the contract covers approximately 800 drivers. The pact provides for wage increases retroactive to February 1 and additional increases on February 1 in 1962 and 1963.

Drivers who work on a mileage rate will get an increase each February 1. The amount which the firms will pay into the health, welfare and pension system for each driver has also been increased and will be similarly increased in February of 1963.

The vacation clause was changed to provide for three weeks vacation after 11 years and four weeks after 18 years service. The cost-of-living clause provides for a one cent increase in wages for each four tenths of a percent hike in the COL basis.

The companies which settled with the Teamsters are Interstate Motor Freight, Spector Freight, Inc.; Cooper-Jarrett, Inc.; Wilson Freight Forwarding, Inc.; Eastern Express, Inc. and Kramer Brothers Freight Lines.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID'S unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Harbingers Of Summit Session?

British Prime Minister Macmillan talked with French President de Gaulle in Paris in January, and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer went to Paris for a chat with de Gaulle the first week of February. Now, Western Europe's diplomatic triple play will be completed when Adenauer goes to London to visit Macmillan tomorrow. A distillation of all this earbending will be conveyed to President Kennedy in Washington April 5 by Macmillan.

The European round of conferences has two distinct purposes. One is to shore up the Western Alliance. Britain in particular is fearful that she may be isolated economically from the remainder of Europe. The approaching Macmillan-Adenauer talks will deal in part with relations between the six-nation European Common Market to which West Germany and France belong and the European Free Trade Area, the rival economic bloc headed by Britain.

Second, the Alliance's leaders are trying to chart common ground on which efforts for a resumption of negotiations between East and West can be based. Macmillan earlier this year publicly exhibited signs of summit fever, despite a dose of bitters at Paris last May, and he may be able to spread the contagion to de Gaulle and Adenauer. President Kennedy appears to have developed at least temporary immunity, and recently let the Soviet Union know it may be several months or more before he can weave a firm fabric of global policies.

But the confrontation cannot be delayed forever. Thus, the de Gaulle-Macmillan-Adenauer talks may be harbingers of a diplomatic season that would climax this summer with a ball at the summit.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Congo

The Congo is a European creation both as a geographical division and as two states. The Congo is a large river and the two countries that bear that name were a European imposition of a state concept on tribesfolk emerging from a neolithic culture. There is a tradition of the existence of a prior Congo kingdom but little is known about it. The Portuguese explored the Congo River in 1482. Little came of the Portuguese effort; in 1816, the British sent an expedition up the river. There were other British expeditions, the most famous one being that of David Livingstone who was lost in the bush and was found by H. M. Stanley, a British explorer, representing the "New York Herald."

The Etat Independant du Congo was annexed to Belgium in 1908. King Leopold II, a powerful figure in European affairs, created it. The French also mapped out a colony along the Congo after the explorations of Savorgnan de Brazza after whom its capital, Brazzaville, was named. Whereas the Belgians ruled the tribes with a strong hand, the French recognized tribal autonomy, making their government a kind of protectorate, with the result that the Republic of the Congo, formerly French, remains within the French Community of nations. The former Belgian Congo is now the scene of civil war and in some respects, a return to barbarism; the former French area is quiet and well-governed.

Tribalism, ancestor worship and cannibalism marked the various peoples of the Congo area, except as the Arabs brought Islam to them and as the Europeans brought Christianity. The principal trade was ivory and slaves until the Belgians developed the rubber industry. In the Belgian area, the state developed a trade monopoly which amounted to the exploitation of the natives. In fact, so brutally were the natives governed that in 1903, a resolution of protest, on humane grounds, was passed by the House of Commons.

What the Belgians got was a wild country of 900,000 square miles with a small coast line of only 25 miles. The country lies on the Equator. Perhaps it is easier to understand the country if one reads David Livingstone's description:

". . . Into these (primeval forests) the sun, though vertical, cannot penetrate, excepting by sending down at mid-day thin pencils of rays into the gloom. The rain water stands for months in stagnant pools made by the feet of elephants. The climbing plants, from the size of a whipcord to that of a man-of-war's hawser, are so numerous, that the ancient path is the only passage. When one of the giant trees falls across the road, it forms a wall breast high to be climbed over, and the mass of tangled ropes brought down makes cutting a path round it a work of time which travellers never undertake . . ."

The tribes which inhabit the Congo are numerous and have traditions of hate and of alliances. The degree of culture of these tribes varies from extremely primitive to emergence into interesting artcrafts. In the cities built by the Belgians or the French, many tribesmen came into contact with Western civilization which some adopted. Those who studied in Western universities became the leaders of the new nations.

The realistic question that faces the United Nations World is how rapidly can a people of such a culture and civilization move into even a semblance of Western self-government. This Soviet Russia and the United Arab Republic ignore because obviously they are willing to support any individual who will do their bidding. The West, however, is committed to the maintenance of free institutions in constitutional states. How does a tribal society develop such a state unless it is imposed from without? Is it not likely to revert to its ancient customs and traditions, one of which, among some of the tribes, is cannibalism?

Essentially, this is the problem that now faces the United Nations with regard to the new states of Africa. Soviet Russia takes them as they are, supplies them with arms and munitions, stimulates internecine strife. The United Arab Republic has the ambition of rebuilding the Arab Empire.

The West is actually creating a political vacuum in Africa which either Soviet Russia or the United Arab Republic hopes to fill.

White Citizens Council, Eastland Worked To Tag Weaver As Red

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is news-gathering in South America. In his absence his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON—Like an episode out of the McCarthy era, the sordid story can now be told how a few Southern Senators tried to pin the Communist label on Robert C. Weaver in an attempt to block a Negro from becoming the nation's housing chief.

The case against Weaver was prepared by the White Citizens Council, the new sheetless Ku Klux Klan, which mailed a set of "documents" to Mississippi's crafty Sen. James Eastland.

He carefully removed all marks identifying the source and circulated the material among his Southern colleagues. They assumed the "documents" had come from the files of his Internal Security Subcommittee.

Louisiana's brusque, brittle Sen. Allen Ellender was so impressed with the Eastland material that he rushed up to Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican, on the Senate floor and tried to invoke the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition against Weaver.

"We have something on this Guy Weaver, and it has nothing to do with race," Ellender confided.

The FBI and the House Committee on un-American Activities cleared Weaver — but not the White Citizens Council. Lean, scowling Sen. Bill Blakley, the temporary Senator from Texas, Cross-examined Weaver about the "documents."

The housing chief made the charges against him appear so ridiculous that the spectators almost hooted Blakley out of the room. At one point, the bumbling Blakley didn't recognize the famous pseudonym, Jim Crow, which symbolizes segregation in the South. He asked about a book review which appeared in a Communist publication.

"This seems to be by J. Crow, realtor," Blakley announced gravely.

"Who?" asked Weaver, apparently not sure he had heard right.

"J. Crow, realtor," repeated the Senator. "Do you know J. Crow?"

"I didn't know he wrote book reviews," smiled Weaver.

"This book reviewer seems to have been J. Crow, realtor," insisted Blakley, still not catching on. "He went under another name sometimes, I suppose."

By this time, the spectators were howling with laughter. They continued to snicker and chuckle throughout the hearing, indicating that the McCarthy methods have gone out of style.

Tongue-Tied

Another admiral has had his tongue clipped as he was about to sound off on national policy. He is Maritime Board chairman Ralph Wilson, a retired vice admiral, who had intended to tell an American Legion post how he thought the cold war should be conducted.

The first draft of his speech got as far as Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges who remembered that President Kennedy had just cracked down on Adm. Arleigh Burke, the Navy chief, for the same offense.

Hodges sent Wilson a confidential note, suggesting that he limit his speech to maritime matters. The disgruntled admiral snorted over the suppression.

"It seems in this administration," he complained to his staff, "that you can't talk about limited war or cold war or the realities of the Russian menace."

Note—In his censored speech, Wilson had planned to advocate invasion of Cuba.

General Nuisance

Gen. Lyman Nemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has become so preoccupied with trivialities that his aides are whispering he won't last long on the New Frontier.

He is puffing and blowing now over how pictures of the Joint Chiefs should be autographed. He has issued elaborate instructions that the Army, Navy, and Air Force chiefs must sign their names directly under his. Their signatures must also follow the same slant.

Lemnitzer personally supervises everything that goes on in his office. He is the only top authority in the Pentagon, for instance, who won't let his limousine or plane be moved unless he is consulted.

Lemnitzer's first big crusade as Joint Chiefs' chairman was to restore to the Army two houses that had been assigned to the Air Force at Fort Myer, next door to the Pentagon.

He finally persuaded President Eisenhower, as one of his last acts, to sign a Presidential decree taking away two of the three Fort Myer homes allotted to the Air Force. The third is now being remodeled for Gen. Tom White, Air Force chief, at a cost of $80,000.

Burke's Broadside

Adm. Arleigh Burke, the Navy chief, was fuming over a Drew Pearson column the other day when he barged into a military briefing for freshman Senators.

The Navy chief apologized for arriving a few minutes late.

"I suppose," suggested Maurine Neuberger, the lady Senator from Oregon, who had read Pearson's comments about Burke, "that you had to stop and read Drew Pearson's column."

This triggered the ire that had been building up in Burke, and he took off like a Polaris missile. For 20 minutes, he delivered a tirade on the "irresponsibility of the press."

"We do believe in freedom of the press," Mrs. Neuberger broke in softly. "You don't want to control the press."

"There's no such a thing as abusive freedom," Burke barked. And he went on for another 10 minutes.

Note — The column that upset him was Pearson's report that Burke had sent Navy propaganda to foreign embassies. This got the admiral in trouble with the White House.

JOHN S. HENDERSON, SALISBURY, N. C.—You are quite right that Gov. Luther Hodges, now Secretary of Commerce, did not "jail" Boyd Payton of the Textile Workers. Payton was jailed after a fair trial and after appeal to the Supreme Court of North Carolina and the U. S. Supreme Court. Secretary Hodges, when governor, did turn down an appeal for clemency taken to him by his present colleague in the Kennedy Cabinet, Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg, then acting as Payton's attorney. This occurred during a trip Goldberg made to Raleigh not too long before both entered the Kennedy Cabinet.

Khrushchev May Get Scalded In African Saucepan

By Stewart Alsop

(Editor's Note: Joseph Alsop was married on Feb. 16, and to permit him a brief honeymoon, his brother and former partner Stewart Alsop, who has recently returned from Africa, writes the following column and one to follow.)

WASHINGTON.

President Kennedy has calmly but firmly warned Nikita Khrushchev not to intervene in the Congo. If Khrushchev ignores the warning, as he has threatened to do, he will be taking an enormous gamble of a sort the Kremlin has not taken before. And it is important to realize that, if he takes the gamble, the odds are, or ought to be, all in our favor.

If Khrushchev won his gamble, the reward would be a solidly established, disciplined Communsatellite state in the Congo. Look at a map and you will see how glittering this prize must seem to Khrushchev. Stanleyville, headquarters of Communist Antoine Gizenga, is in the very heart of Africa, and a Communist Congo would be an enormous stride towards Khrushchev's dream of Communist control of Africa, the last great storehouse of unexploited natural resources.

But look at the map again, and you will see what risks are involved in an attempt by Khrushchev to arm and supply the Gizenga regime, in order to enable it to conquer the Congo. The Communists have often armed and supplied Communist movements on the periphery of the Iron Curtain, as in Korea, Indo China, Laos, Greece, and Azer Baijan. But the Congo is not on the periphery of the Iron Curtain.

Stanleyville is nearly 3,000 miles from Soviet territory. The only practical way for the Soviets to supply the Stanleyville regime with important quantities of military material is by mounting an air lift, using Cairo as the staging area. The landing facilities in Stanleyville are primitive, and the Soviet air lift would have to over-fly the Sudan illegally, as well as Greece, Turkey, or Iran. Surely this would be a very risky undertaking.

It might be worth the risk if Khrushchev could be sure that the West would stand idly by while he built up his Communist rump regime. But he cannot be sure, as President Kennedy has made clear. At the least, Khrushchev must assume that if he intervenes to support and supply Stanleyville, the West will support and supply the U.N.-recognized regime of President Kasavubu in Leopoldville. To fail to do so would be to hand the Congo, and ultimately Africa, to the Kremlin on a silver platter.

As a third glance at the map will suggest, if Khrushchev forces a show down in the Congo, the military logistical advantages will be all on the side of the West. But the gamble might still pay off for Khrushchev, if the political advantages were all on his side.

If it were true that the Congolese masses worshipped the late Patrice Lumumba as a hero and patriot, Gizenga, as Lumumba's stand-in, would have a great political advantage. With mass popular support, and aid from the Soviets and the Egyptians, the Gizenga regime might then buck the military-logistical odds to conquer the whole Congo. But the notion that Lumumba is or was worshipped by the Congolese masses is a myth. Lumumba was an accomplished demagogue, when he found the time between bouts of gin-drinking, hashish-smoking, and amusing himself with his harem of doxies. He had a certain following among the small minority of de-tribalized city dwellers. But he was also roundly hated. On two separate occasions, the anti-Communist Col. Joseph Mobuto saved him from assassination.

Lumumba was hated for many reasons, most of them good. But the main reason was that his attempt to establish a unitary state cut across the tribal loyalties which are the Congo's central political reality. Thus Gizenga and company are certainly not going to conquer on the cheap, simply by invoking Lumumba's name. Furthermore, the plain fact is that the Gizenga regime, economically blockaded and plagued by warring factions, is in very bad trouble.

We must get over our inferiority complex about Africa. We must not be so terrified of being called "imperialists" that we are paralyzed. Khrushchev is going to continue to use all means, from bribery to the threat of force, to bring Africa into the Communist orbit, as is his sacred duty as a Communist. But we do have the power to persuade Khrushchev and his friends that certain measures, including unilateral intervention in the Congo, involve too great a risk and too small a chance of success.

To that end, it is important to realize that, if Khrushchev does force a show down in the Congo, the odds are in our favor. "We are going to make the imperialists dance like fishes in a saucepan," Khrushchev boasted recently. We are the imperialists, of course—United States and its allies—and Africa is the saucepan. If we do not want to dance like fishes in Mr. Khrushchev's saucepan, we must have the courage to let him know that there is a real risk that he might get scalded himself. That is what President Kennedy has quietly but boldly done.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WHIMSY — We don't know whether it's their youth, their newness, or just plain coincidence, but the Kennedy administration seems to be providing a new brand of whimsy in official Washington life.

When Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of Naval Operations, had to rewrite a speech on White House orders, it fell to Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, a former newspaperman, to make the request. Sylvester told Burke, "You seemed to have your quill and sword in the same hand."

When still another Harvard professor was drafted for service with the administration, Dean Erwin Griswold of the Law School, sighed, "Old deans don't die, they just lose their faculties."

When a Washington newspaper became sensitive because it was not listed among those read by the new president, the White House press secretary, Pierre Salinger, announced that on checking with his 12-year-old son, who delivered the paper in the Georgetown area, he had to correct his statement—the paper in question had been delivered to Kennedy's house up to inauguration day.

And, finally, there are Kennedy's own perigrinations around the capital. He's popped in on friends, gone to see a movie, had dinner with several sets of newspaper friends. We're beginning to wonder what Kennedy will do the evening that one or more of these friends drops by to pay an informal return call at the White House.

NEW NASA CHIEF — Appointment of a new man to head the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was delayed while the top Kennedy people thrashed out whether to name a scientist or an administrator.

It was settled when James E. Webb, an administrator, was given the job. What is not generally known is that the scientists in the government's top civilian space agency cheered when the appointment was announced. They had become deeply concerned over the way the agency had been drifting while it was headed by one of their own ilk.

Teaching Delinquency

By John Crosby

After a seven-year vacation, Mickey Spillane is writing another of his Mike Hammer books. But Mr. Spillane declares that his hero, who popularized the shooting of naked women in fiction, will probably be considered mild stuff. Now even women writers, said Spillane, purvey more tough talk and violence than he did.

That is the truth. The other day, Police Commissioner Kennedy said that New York City's crime was up for the seventh straight year, which, in a city whose population is declining, is depressing. The steepest climb is again in the ranks of the young. The arrests of those under sixteen years of age are up almost 7 per cent; the arrests of those sixteen to twenty went up almost 9 per cent in one year. Does this surprise you? It shouldn't. It should alarm you but it shouldn't surprise you. These are the children who have been conditioned since birth to violence —to commit, to acquiesce in it, to consider it normal.

On my television program, Alfred Knopf, the publisher, said that it's out of date to complain about sex in fiction; it's been replaced, he said, by sadism. Not only in fiction either, everywhere. In "TV Guide" Dr. Frederick Wertham, the psychiatrist, says: "We have been conditioned to an acceptance of violence as no civilized nation has ever been before. How? That is very simple. You crowd the minds of the people with violent images — continuously, relentlessly, in every context and costume . . . We have silently passed an amendment to the Sixth Commandment. Thou shalt not kill but it is perfectly all right for you to enjoy watching other people do it, the more the merrier and as brutally as possible."

You are surprised at the rise of juvenile delinquency? We teach juvenile delinquency on television and in books and in the movies. No other civilized country in the world permits the horrors we allow on our television screens. In Washington, we have a sublimely blind, hopelessly inefficient and frequently corrupt Federal Communications Commission which has permitted the abominations of "The Untouchables" and all other TV felons to continue without taking a single step to enforce its powers.

No other country allows this, not even uncivilized ones. "The Wall Street Journal" reports that sale of American TV abroad is booming but adds: "Excessive violence on some U. S. video programs has already raised difficulties abroad. Australia's censorship board barred forty-two U. S. (TV) films and demanded cuts in 1,594 additional films. Sweden and Japan and other countries have also voiced objections to brawling and shooting in American programs. Says Mr. McCarthy of the TV export group: 'There's no doubt about it. We're going to have to tone down our violence, if we want to get the most out of the foreign market.' "

The last time I was in France, a country notoriously open-minded, a representative there of ZIV TV films told me the French simply would have nothing to do with our violent TV films. He added: "The French agree that the violence would probably be just as popular in France as it is in America but they say simply that it isn't good for the little ones or for the big ones."

Is this censorship? Hell, no. It's plain common sense, which is conspicuously lacking in our treatment of the subject. When those who are making a fortune out of making juvenile delinquents out of our children start pointing out (as they do) that "Hamlet" has lots of violence, too, the answer should simply be: "Oh, come off it, Charlie. Behave yourself or I'll yank your license." With perhaps a good swift kick. There is no decent rationalization for this mayhem being committed on television. No other civilized country permits it except us.

The Federal Communications Commission, by simply flexing its muscles at the networks and at the stations who show the tripe, could do much toward abolishing violence on television tomorrow. The "public interest, convenience, and necessity" clause of the Communications Act is plenty of authorization. It wouldn't even take any official reprisals much more serious than a telephone call or a public reprimand.

The public itself ought to raise the roof over the misuse of violence — not only on television but in comics and movies and books. The ordinary citizen has at his disposal vast powers of social disapproval — and this, used against the corner drugstore which sells ands displays sadistic pocket books, or aginst the TV station, or against any store selling those awful sadistic comics, could accomplish much.

An Overactive Sympathetic Nervous System

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The impulses that travel through some nerves are initiated under our control. We can move the hand or finger on command and it is no trick to bend the back or shut the eyes. But did you ever try to stop sweating on a warm day, control blushing, or lessen the churning movements of the stomach.

The sweat glands, the heart beat, and digestion are under the control of the autonomic (sympathetic) nervous system. This mechanism also controls the size of the arteries and, indirectly, the circulation and blood pressure. These nerves have connections with the brain so that when a person becomes excited or nervous, the pulse quickens and a peculiar sensation develops "in the pit of the stomach."

Some people are born with an overactive sympathetic nervous system. Their hands and feet are cold and clammy, the pulse is rapid, and palpitation may develop on exertion or excitement. Others are bothered with digestive disturbances such as bowel spasms, gaseous distention, or diarrhea.

These nerves may stimulate the acid producing glands in the stomach or increase the churning movements of this organ. Peptic ulcer may result and this explains why many of our modern ulcer remedies are aimed at quieting or controling this nervous system.

The sympathetic nerves are cut occasionally to improve circulation in the lower extremities (sympathectomy). When this is done, the legs become warm because the blood vessels dilate. But they also become dry because the sweat glands cease to function.

Lack of perspiration on the legs is compensated for by excessive sweating elsewhere. The individual is grateful for the warmer lower extremities but some object to the increased perspiration on the trunk or face.

SPINAL CYST

J. T. writes: If a pilonidal cyst is not giving trouble should it be removed?

REPLY

There is no need to have the cyst removed unless it was troublesome in the past and is now quiescent. At this stage, the operation is safer and easier because the area is not infected. These lesions, located at the base of the spine, can hardly escape irritation whenever the individual sits down.

VISION AND DIABETES

Z. P. writes: Does diabetes affect the eyesight?

REPLY

Yes. Diabetic retinopathy may occur in those who have had the condition for a long time and have failed to take care of themselves.

ONE IS ENOUGH

Mrs. J. M. writes: If a person has one attack of amnesia, does it always recur?

REPLY

No. As a rule, there is only one to a customer but there may be a recurrence under the some circumstances that brought on the first attack.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Walter Slezak visited Hollywood for a TV chore and while there, called an old, old friend to ask, "How's it going with you?"

"I was in a bad auto crash recently," reported the friend, "but I can't kick."

"Tough break," sympathized Slezak. "And your wife?"

"She ran away with my agent last week, but I can't kick."

"I'm sorry to hear that, but at least you still have that soft job at the studio."

"What job? They fired me three months ago—but I can't kick."

"With all that bad luck," marveled Slezak, "why do you keep telling me you can't kick?"

"Because," moaned the friend, "I'm in a cast from the waist down!"

Rumor has it that there's a big new TV series in the works concerning high jinks in the ladies' underwear business. It's called "The Unmentionables."

Harbingers Of Summit Session?

British Prime Minister Macmillan talked with French President de Gaulle in Paris in January, and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer went to Paris for a chat with de Gaulle the first week of February. Now, Western Europe's diplomatic triple play will be completed when Adenauer goes to London to visit Macmillan tomorrow. A distillation of all this earbending will be conveyed to President Kennedy in Washington April 5 by Macmillan.

The European round of conferences has two distinct purposes. One is to shore up the Western Alliance. Britain in particular is fearful that she may be isolated economically from the remainder of Europe. The approaching Macmillan-Adenauer talks will deal in part with relations between the six-nation European Common Market to which West Germany and France belong and the European Free Trade Area, the rival economic bloc headed by Britain.

Second, the Alliance's leaders are trying to chart common ground on which efforts for a resumption of negotiations between East and West can be based. Macmillan earlier this year publicly exhibited signs of summit fever, despite a dose of bitters at Paris last May, and he may be able to spread the contagion to de Gaulle and Adenauer. President Kennedy appears to have developed at least temporary immunity, and recently let the Soviet Union know it may be several months or more before he can weave a firm fabric of global policies.

But the confrontation cannot be delayed forever. Thus, the de Gaulle-Macmillan-Adenauer talks may be harbingers of a diplomatic season that would climax this summer with a ball at the summit.

These Days

The Congo

The Congo is a European creation both as a geographical division and as two states. The Congo is a large river and the two countries that bear that name were a European imposition of a state concept on tribesfolk emerging from a neolithic culture. There is a tradition of the existence of a prior Congo kingdom but little is known about it. The Portuguese explored the Congo River in 1482. Little came of the Portuguese effort; in 1816, the British sent an expedition up the river. There were other British expeditions, the most famous one being that of David Livingstone who was lost in the bush and was found by H. M. Stanley, a British explorer, representing the "New York Herald."

The Etat Independant du Congo was annexed to Belgium in 1908. King Leopold II, a powerful figure in European affairs, created it. The French also mapped out a colony along the Congo after the explorations of Savorgnan de Brazza after whom its capital, Brazzaville, was named. Whereas the Belgians ruled the tribes with a strong hand, the French recognized tribal autonomy, making their government a kind of protectorate, with the result that the Republic of the Congo, formerly French, remains within the French Community of nations. The former Belgian Congo is now the scene of civil war and in some respects, a return to barbarism; the former French area is quiet and well-governed.

Tribalism, ancestor worship and cannibalism marked the various peoples of the Congo area, except as the Arabs brought Islam to them and as the Europeans brought Christianity. The principal trade was ivory and slaves until the Belgians developed the rubber industry. In the Belgian area, the state developed a trade monopoly which amounted to the exploitation of the natives. In fact, so brutally were the natives governed that in 1903, a resolution of protest, on humane grounds, was passed by the House of Commons.

What the Belgians got was a wild country of 900,000 square miles with a small coast line of only 25 miles. The country lies on the Equator. Perhaps it is easier to understand the country if one reads David Livingstone's description:

The rain water stands for months in stagnant pools made by the feet of elephants. JOHN S. HENDERSON, SALISBURY, N. C.—You are quite right that Gov. Luther Hodges, now Secretary of Commerce, did not "jail" Boyd Payton of the Textile Workers. Payton was jailed after a fair trial and after appeal to the Supreme Court of North Carolina and the U. S. Supreme Court. Secretary Hodges, when governor, did turn down an appeal for clemency taken to him by his present colleague in the Kennedy Cabinet, Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg, then acting as Payton's attorney. This occurred during a trip Goldberg made to Raleigh not too long before both entered the Kennedy Cabinet.

Khrushchev May Get Scalded In African Saucepan

By Stewart Alsop

(Editor's Note: Joseph Alsop was married on Feb. 16, and to permit him a brief honeymoon, his brother and former partner Stewart Alsop, who has recently returned from Africa, writes the following column and one to follow.)

WASHINGTON.

President Kennedy has calmly but firmly warned Nikita Khrushchev not to intervene in the Congo. If Khrushchev ignores the warning, as he has threatened to do, he will be taking an enormous gamble of a sort the Kremlin has not taken before. And it is important to realize that, if he takes the gamble, the odds are, or ought to be, all in our favor.

If Khrushchev won his gamble, the reward would be a solidly established, disciplined Communsatellite state in the Congo. Look at a map and you will see how glittering this prize must seem to Khrushchev. Stanleyville, headquarters of Communist Antoine Gizenga, is in the very heart of Africa, and a Communist Congo would be an enormous stride towards Khrushchev's dream of Communist control of Africa, the last great storehouse of unexploited natural resources.

But look at the map again, and you will see what risks are involved in an attempt by Khrushchev to arm and supply the Gizenga regime, in order to enable it to conquer the Congo. The Communists have often armed and supplied Communist movements on the periphery of the Iron Curtain, as in Korea, Indo China, Laos, Greece, and Azer Baijan. But the Congo is not on the periphery of the Iron Curtain.

Stanleyville is nearly 3,000 miles from Soviet territory. The only practical way for the Soviets to supply the Stanleyville regime with important quantities of military material is by mounting an air lift, using Cairo as the staging area. The landing facilities in Stanleyville are primitive, and the Soviet air lift would have to over-fly the Sudan illegally, as well as Greece, Turkey, or Iran. Surely this would be a very risky undertaking.

It might be worth the risk if Khrushchev could be sure that the West would stand idly by while he built up his Communist rump regime. But he cannot be sure, as President Kennedy has made clear. At the least, Khrushchev must assume that if he intervenes to support and supply Stanleyville, the West will support and supply the U.N.-recognized regime of President Kasavubu in Leopoldville. To fail to do so would be to hand the Congo, and ultimately Africa, to the Kremlin on a silver platter.

As a third glance at the map will suggest, if Khrushchev forces a show down in the Congo, the military logistical advantages will be all on the side of the West. But the gamble might still pay off for Khrushchev, if the political advantages were all on his side.

If it were true that the Congolese masses worshipped the late Patrice Lumumba as a hero and patriot, Gizenga, as Lumumba's stand-in, would have a great political advantage. With mass popular support, and aid from the Soviets and the Egyptians, the Gizenga regime might then buck the military-logistical odds to conquer the whole Congo. But the notion that Lumumba is or was worshipped by the Congolese masses is a myth. Lumumba was an accomplished demagogue, when he found the time between bouts of gin-drinking, hashish-smoking, and amusing himself with his harem of doxies. He had a certain following among the small minority of de-tribalized city dwellers. But he was also roundly hated. On two separate occasions, the anti-Communist Col. Joseph Mobuto saved him from assassination.

Lumumba was hated for many reasons, most of them good. But the main reason was that his attempt to establish a unitary state cut across the tribal loyalties which are the Congo's central political reality. Thus Gizenga and company are certainly not going to conquer on the cheap, simply by invoking Lumumba's name. Furthermore, the plain fact is that the Gizenga regime, economically blockaded and plagued by warring factions, is in very bad trouble.

We must get over our inferiority complex about Africa. We must not be so terrified of being called "imperialists" that we are paralyzed. Khrushchev is going to continue to use all means, from bribery to the threat of force, to bring Africa into the Communist orbit, as is his sacred duty as a Communist. But we do have the power to persuade Khrushchev and his friends that certain measures, including unilateral intervention in the Congo, involve too great a risk and too small a chance of success.

To that end, it is important to realize that, if Khrushchev does force a show down in the Congo, the odds are in our favor. "We are going to make the imperialists dance like fishes in a saucepan," Khrushchev boasted recently. We are the imperialists, of course—United States and its allies—and Africa is the saucepan. If we do not want to dance like fishes in Mr. Khrushchev's saucepan, we must have the courage to let him know that there is a real risk that he might get scalded himself. That is what President Kennedy has quietly but boldly done.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WHIMSY — We don't know whether it's their youth, their newness, or just plain coincidence, but the Kennedy administration seems to be providing a new brand of whimsy in official Washington life.

When Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of Naval Operations, had to rewrite a speech on White House orders, it fell to Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, a former newspaperman, to make the request. Sylvester told Burke, "You seemed to have your quill and sword in the same hand."

When still another Harvard professor was drafted for service with the administration, Dean Erwin Griswold of the Law School, sighed, "Old deans don't die, they just lose their faculties."

When a Washington newspaper became sensitive because it was not listed among those read by the new president, the White House press secretary, Pierre Salinger, announced that on checking with his 12-year-old son, who delivered the paper in the Georgetown area, he had to correct his statement—the paper in question had been delivered to Kennedy's house up to inauguration day.

And, finally, there are Kennedy's own perigrinations around the capital. He's popped in on friends, gone to see a movie, had dinner with several sets of newspaper friends. We're beginning to wonder what Kennedy will do the evening that one or more of these friends drops by to pay an informal return call at the White House.

NEW NASA CHIEF — Appointment of a new man to head the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was delayed while the top Kennedy people thrashed out whether to name a scientist or an administrator.

It was settled when James E. Webb, an administrator, was given the job. What is not generally known is that the scientists in the government's top civilian space agency cheered when the appointment was announced. They had become deeply concerned over the way the agency had been drifting while it was headed by one of their own ilk.

Teaching Delinquency

By John Crosby

After a seven-year vacation, Mickey Spillane is writing another of his Mike Hammer books. But Mr. Spillane declares that his hero, who popularized the shooting of naked women in fiction, will probably be considered mild stuff. Now even women writers, said Spillane, purvey more tough talk and violence than he did.

That is the truth. The other day, Police Commissioner Kennedy said that New York City's crime was up for the seventh straight year, which, in a city whose population is declining, is depressing. The steepest climb is again in the ranks of the young. The arrests of those under sixteen years of age are up almost 7 per cent; the arrests of those sixteen to twenty went up almost 9 per cent in one year. Does this surprise you? It shouldn't. It should alarm you but it shouldn't surprise you. These are the children who have been conditioned since birth to violence —to commit, to acquiesce in it, to consider it normal.

On my television program, Alfred Knopf, the publisher, said that it's out of date to complain about sex in fiction; it's been replaced, he said, by sadism. Not only in fiction either, everywhere. In "TV Guide" Dr. Frederick Wertham, the psychiatrist, says: "We have been conditioned to an acceptance of violence as no civilized nation has ever been before. How? That is very simple. You crowd the minds of the people with violent images — continuously, relentlessly, in every context and costume . . . We have silently passed an amendment to the Sixth Commandment. Thou shalt not kill but it is perfectly all right for you to enjoy watching other people do it, the more the merrier and as brutally as possible."

You are surprised at the rise of juvenile delinquency? We teach juvenile delinquency on television and in books and in the movies. No other civilized country in the world permits the horrors we allow on our television screens. In Washington, we have a sublimely blind, hopelessly inefficient and frequently corrupt Federal Communications Commission which has permitted the abominations of "The Untouchables" and all other TV felons to continue without taking a single step to enforce its powers.

No other country allows this, not even uncivilized ones. "The Wall Street Journal" reports that sale of American TV abroad is booming but adds: "Excessive violence on some U. S. video programs has already raised difficulties abroad. Australia's censorship board barred forty-two U. S. (TV) films and demanded cuts in 1,594 additional films. Sweden and Japan and other countries have also voiced objections to brawling and shooting in American programs. Says Mr. McCarthy of the TV export group: 'There's no doubt about it. We're going to have to tone down our violence, if we want to get the most out of the foreign market.'"

The last time I was in France, a country notoriously open-minded, a representative there of ZIV TV films told me the French simply would have nothing to do with our violent TV films. He added: "The French agree that the violence would probably be just as popular in France as it is in America but they say simply that it isn't good for the little ones or for the big ones."

Is this censorship? Hell, no. It's plain common sense, which is conspicuously lacking in our treatment of the subject. When those who are making a fortune out of making juvenile delinquents out of our children start pointing out (as they do) that "Hamlet" has lots of violence, too, the answer should simply be: "Oh, come off it, Charlie. Behave yourself or I'll yank your license." With perhaps a good swift kick. There is no decent rationalization for this mayhem being committed on television. No other civilized country permits it except us.

The Federal Communications Commission, by simply flexing its muscles at the networks and at the stations who show the tripe, could do much toward abolishing violence on television tomorrow. The "public interest, convenience, and necessity" clause of the Communications Act is plenty of authorization. It wouldn't even take any official reprisals much more serious than a telephone call or a public reprimand.

The public itself ought to raise the roof over the misuse of violence — not only on television but in comics and movies and books. The ordinary citizen has at his disposal vast powers of social disapproval — and this, used against the corner drugstore which sells ands displays sadistic pocket books, or aginst the TV station, or against any store selling those awful sadistic comics, could accomplish much.

An Overactive Sympathetic Nervous System

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The impulses that travel through some nerves are initiated under our control. We can move the hand or finger on command and it is no trick to bend the back or shut the eyes. But did you ever try to stop sweating on a warm day, control blushing, or lessen the churning movements of the stomach.

The sweat glands, the heart beat, and digestion are under the control of the autonomic (sympathetic) nervous system. This mechanism also controls the size of the arteries and, indirectly, the circulation and blood pressure. These nerves have connections with the brain so that when a person becomes excited or nervous, the pulse quickens and a peculiar sensation develops "in the pit of the stomach."

Some people are born with an overactive sympathetic nervous system. Their hands and feet are cold and clammy, the pulse is rapid, and palpitation may develop on exertion or excitement. Others are bothered with digestive disturbances such as bowel spasms, gaseous distention, or diarrhea.

These nerves may stimulate the acid producing glands in the stomach or increase the churning movements of this organ. Peptic ulcer may result and this explains why many of our modern ulcer remedies are aimed at quieting or controling this nervous system.

The sympathetic nerves are cut occasionally to improve circulation in the lower extremities (sympathectomy). When this is done, the legs become warm because the blood vessels dilate. But they also become dry because the sweat glands cease to function.

Lack of perspiration on the legs is compensated for by excessive sweating elsewhere. The individual is grateful for the warmer lower extremities but some object to the increased perspiration on the trunk or face.

SPINAL CYST

J. T. writes: If a pilonidal cyst is not giving trouble should it be removed?

REPLY

There is no need to have the cyst removed unless it was troublesome in the past and is now quiescent. At this stage, the operation is safer and easier because the area is not infected. These lesions, located at the base of the spine, can hardly escape irritation whenever the individual sits down.

VISION AND DIABETES

Z. P. writes: Does diabetes affect the eyesight?

REPLY

Yes. Diabetic retinopathy may occur in those who have had the condition for a long time and have failed to take care of themselves.

ONE IS ENOUGH

Mrs. J. M. writes: If a person has one attack of amnesia, does it always recur?

REPLY

No. As a rule, there is only one to a customer but there may be a recurrence under the some circumstances that brought on the first attack.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Walter Slezak visited Hollywood for a TV chore and while there, called an old, old friend to ask, "How's it going with you?"

"I was in a bad auto crash recently," reported the friend, "but I can't kick."

"Tough break," sympathized Slezak. "And your wife?"

"She ran away with my agent last week, but I can't kick."

"I'm sorry to hear that, but at least you still have that soft job at the studio."

"What job? They fired me three months ago—but I can't kick."

"With all that bad luck," marveled Slezak, "why do you keep telling me you can't kick?"

"Because," moaned the friend, "I'm in a cast from the waist down!"

Rumor has it that there's a big new TV series in the works concerning high jinks in the ladies' underwear business. It's called "The Unmentionables."

Bruce Belts Mt. Savage, 67-48, Cops Class B Title

Bill Wiltison Racks Up 28 For Bulldogs

Winners Register 17 Points In Row In Third Period

Breaking out in the third period with a barrage of 17 consecutive points, Bruce's Bulldogs blasted what had been a tight ball game wide open and went on to defeat Mt. Savage, 67-48, in a playoff at Allegany High School to determine the county's Class B champion.

During the regular season the two Class B quints split, with Bruce winning at Mt. Savage, 61-37, and the Indians scoring a 57-55 upset in the return encounter at Westernport.

Last night it appeared as if another see-saw struggle was in store, as the lead changed hands six times and the score was tied on four different occasions in the first half.

A fall-away jump shot by freshman Ralph Wilson of Mt. Savage pulled the Indians into a 27-27 tie just five seconds shy of the buzzer ending the second half.

Held Scoreless 5:35

Wilson's two-pointer, however, preceded a long point drought for the Indians, who didn't score again until five minutes and 35 seconds had elapsed in the third period when John Lowery drove for a layup.

By this time, the Bulldogs had piled up 17 points in the period for a 44-29 lead that enabled them to coast the rest of the way. Bill Adams followed Lowery's goal (one of only four tallied by the losers in the second half) with a free throw, but Earl Riggleman dumped in a pair of quick shots from his pivot post and the Westernport advantage soared to 20 points.

Bill Wiltison, the WMI League's leading scorer, led the Bulldogs' big push in the torrid third period which found them hitting on nine of 20 shots from the floor and five of six chances at the free throw line.

A field goal by Bob Wilson broke the 27-27 deadlock after more than a minute had gone by in the quarter. Wiltison came through with a three-point play and followed with another field goal on one of his deadly jumpers.

Wiltison Scores 28

Wiltison tallied nine points in the productive period and followed up with a like number in the final frame to wind up with 28 points. The cool backcourt performer fired in nine field goals in 21 attempts and converted 10 of 12 free throws.

Riggleman collected 14 points and Ken McDowell 10 for Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs, whose overall shooting mark was .385—25 field goals in 65 tries. The Indians, who made only four of 24 second half shots, wound up with a disappointing .268 percentage, with 15 of 56 floor attempts finding the target.

Four Mt. Savage cagers accounted for all but two of their team's points. Wilson led the pack with 14, John Lowery and Bobby Robertson caged 11 apiece, and Adams chipped in with 10.

Seek State Title

The Bulldogs, who last year won the county "B" Title but lost out to Hancock in the district playoffs at Campobello, will participate in the district tourney next week. The Westernporters will fight it out with Northern (Garrett County), Williamsport (Washington County), and either Walkersville or Brunswick of Frederick County for a shot at College Park and the state championship.

Beall Whips Keyser 71-53 To Avenge Only PVC Loss

Mountaineers Take Over League Lead

Beall High's Mountaineers, with four of thier starters scoring in the double figures, out-shot and out-rebounded Keyser High's quintet decisively last night to whip the Tornado five, 71-53, at Keyser in a Potomac Valley Conference clash.

The victory moved Beall out in front in the tight PVC race with an 8-1 mark, one-half game over the idle LaSalle Explorers who are in with 7-1 for conference play.

Chalking up their 15th win of the campaign, Coach Ebbie Finzel's Mountaineers resoundingly avenged a double overtime loss to Keyser, 58-56, at Frostburg, the only blight on Beall's PVC record.

With Marshall Hamilton personally accounting for as many rebounds as Keyser's entire team, Beall controlled the boards 45-18. The Mounties shot at a fabulous 58 per cent in hitting for 28 field goals in 49 attempts while Keyser could shoot at only a tepid 28 per cent pace with 18 goals in 64 tries.

Beall jumped out in front at the onset and led 21-13, 40-25 and 57-38 at the quarters as Keyser bowed for the second time in its last three games. The defeat was Keyser's ninth in 20 starts while Beall now is 15-4 for the season.

Beall's scoring was well divided among four of its starters with Jim Evans heading the list with 20 voints. Allan Eisel chipped in with 18, Hamilton garnered 15 and Wayne Metz had 14 before fouling out in the last quarter.

Best for Keyser was Jim Courrier with 13, including 9-11 performance at the foul line. Don Harman and Francis Sidley scored 12 points apiece and Terry Turbin contributed 11 in a losing cause for Coach Estel "Eck" Miers' tossers.

Bruce Belts Mt. Savage, 67-48, Cops Class B Title

Bill Wiltison Racks Up 28 For Bulldogs

Winners Register 17 Points In Row In Third Period

Breaking out in the third period with a barrage of 17 consecutive points, Bruce's Bulldogs blasted what had been a tight ball game wide open and went on to defeat Mt. Savage, 67-48, in a playoff at Allegany High School to determine the county's Class B champion.

During the regular season the two Class B quints split, with Bruce winning at Mt. Savage, 61-37, and the Indians scoring a 57-55 upset in the return encounter at Westernport.

Last night it appeared as if another see-saw struggle was in store, as the lead changed hands six times and the score was tied on four different occasions in the first half.

A fall-away jump shot by freshman Ralph Wilson of Mt. Savage pulled the Indians into a 27-27 tie just five seconds shy of the buzzer ending the second half.

Held Scoreless 5:35

Wilson's, two-pointer, however, preceded a long point drought for the Indians, who didn't score again until five minutes and 35 seconds had elapsed in the third period when John Lowery drove for a layup.

By this time, the Bulldogs had piled up 17 points in the period for a 44-29 lead that enabled them to coast the rest of the way. Bill Adams followed Lowery's goal (one of only four tallied by the losers in the second half) with a free throw, but Earl Riggleman dumped in a pair of quick shots from his pivot post and the Westernport advantage soared to 20 points.

Bill Wiltison, the WMI League's leading scorer, led the Bulldogs' big push in the torrid third period which found them hitting on nine of 20 shots from the floor and five of six chances at the free throw line.

A field goal by Bob Wilson broke the 27-27 deadlock after more than a minute had gone by in the quarter. Wiltison came through with a three-point play and followed with another field goal on one of his deadly jumpers.

Wiltison Scores 28

Wiltison tallied nine points in the productive period and followed up with a like number in the final frame to wind up with 28 points. The cool backcourt performer fired in nine field goals in 21 attempts and converted 10 of 12 free throws.

Riggleman collected 14 points and Ken McDowell 10 for Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs, whose overall shooting mark was .385—25 field goals in 65 tries. The Indians, who made only four of 24 second half shots, wound up with a disappointing .268 percentage, with 15 of 56 floor attempts finding the target.

Four Mt. Savage cagers accounted for all but two of their team's points. Wilson led the pack with 14, John Lowery and Bobby Robertson caged 11 apiece, and Adams chipped in with 10.

Seek State Title

The Bulldogs, who last year won the county "B" Title but lost out to Hancock in the district playoffs at Campobello, will participate in the district tourney next week. The Westernporters will fight it out with Northern (Garrett County), Williamsport (Washington County), and either Walkersville or Brunswick of Frederick County for a shot at College Park and the state championship.

Beall Whips Keyser 71-53 To Avenge Only PVC Loss

Mountaineers Take Over League Lead

Beall High's Mountaineers, with four of thier starters scoring in the double figures, out-shot and out-rebounded Keyser High's quintet decisively last night to whip the Tornado five, 71-53, at Keyser in a Potomac Valley Conference clash.

The victory moved Beall out in front in the tight PVC race with an 8-1 mark, one-half game over the idle LaSalle Explorers who are in with 7-1 for conference play.

Chalking up their 15th win of the campaign, Coach Ebbie Finzel's Mountaineers resoundingly avenged a double overtime loss to Keyser, 58-56, at Frostburg, the only blight on Beall's PVC record.

With Marshall Hamilton personally accounting for as many rebounds as Keyser's entire team, Beall controlled the boards 45-18. The Mounties shot at a fabulous 58 per cent in hitting for 28 field goals in 49 attempts while Keyser could shoot at only a tepid 28 per cent pace with 18 goals in 64 tries.

Beall jumped out in front at the onset and led 21-13, 40-25 and 57-38 at the quarters as Keyser bowed for the second time in its last three games. The defeat was Keyser's ninth in 20 starts while Beall now is 15-4 for the season.

Beall's scoring was well divided among four of its starters with Jim Evans heading the list with 20 voints. Allan Eisel chipped in with 18, Hamilton garnered 15 and Wayne Metz had 14 before fouling out in the last quarter.

Best for Keyser was Jim Courrier with 13, including 9-11 performance at the foul line. Don Harman and Francis Sidley scored 12 points apiece and Terry Turbin contributed 11 in a losing cause for Coach Estel "Eck" Miers' tossers.

LaSalle, Fort Hill Clash In 51st Game Of Series

Explorers Must Take Pair To Tie Allegany For Title

Series Is Knotted At 25-25; Altoona Visits Campers

LaSalle High School's Explorers must win two games to share the city basketball championship they captured last season when they made a four-game sweep.

Fort Hill and Allegany are the obstacles LaSalle must hurdle to attain that goal.

Tonight LaSalle goes to Fort Hill to face the Sentinels in the 51st game of their series. The Explorers made the all-time count 25-25 on December 23 when they trimmed Fort Hill to the tune of 84-72 at SS. Peter & Paul gym. The Sentinels are a much improved team and are expected to give their crosstown rivals an interesting evening.

Face Campers Friday

If LaSalle gets by Fort Hill which is 0-3 in the city race it will have to whip the Campers on SS. Peter & Paul court Friday night to deadlock Allegany for the crown. Allegany is 3-0 in city competition while LaSalle is 1-1. Allegany holds a 57-55 decision over the boys from Carroll Hall.

Coach George Geatz's team takes a 5-game winning streak into tonight's game and owns an overall mark of 18-3. Fort Hill dropped a 70-67 battle to Allegany Friday night and is 8-7 for the campaign.

ACHS Visits Allegany

Allegany High School, newly crowned W.M.I. League and Allegany County Class A champions, will entertain Altoona Catholic High School tonight at Campobello.

The Campers opened athletic relations with the Marauders last fall and defeated them in the opening game of the football season by the score of 39-0. Tonight they'll be meeting for the first time in basketball.

Len Zandy, center, is the scoring ace of the Altoona quint which has won 11 of 17 games played to date.

Coach Chet Payne's team will be engaging in its 20th game of the season. The Campobello cagers have won 13 and lost six.

Six other games are on tap for area high schools tonight.

Wardensville's Warriors (9-8) wind up their season by playing host to the Romney Pioneers in a Potomac Valley Conference engagement.

Lions Invade Oldtown

West Virginia School for the Deaf, back from the Eastern States Deaf Schools Tournament at Buffalo, N.Y., will be seeking revenge for a 56-55 setback when it winds up its series with Oldtown at the latter place. This is the final game on the regular season schedule of the Romney quint.

Hyndman High School's Hornets are slated to visit Mt. Savage against the Indians who would like to avenge a 77-62 loss.

Paw Paw will be at Berkeley Springs for a third meeting with the Indians this season. The Pirates beat Berkeley, 56-44 in the Paw Paw Christmas tourney and whipped the Indians the second time last week to the tune of 76-56.

Petersburg's Vikings conclude their 20-game schedule at Charles Town while Capon Bridge will entertain Hedgesville High School in a return game after having taken the opener, 64-59.

Keyser Tourney Ends

At Keyser, the Potomac Valley Conference Junior High School Tournament draws to a close with Piedmont playing Keyser in the championship contest at 8 o'clock. Elk Garden and Southern tangle in the consolation tilt at 7.

Bayard In Series

The first game of a best-of-three series for the West Virginia Section 11 Class A championship opens tonight at Thomas where Bayard High School will play Mountaineer High School. The second game is billed for Thursday at Bayard and the third, if necessary, will be staged Saturday night at Southern High School, Oakland.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill Terry of the New York Giants and Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees had almost identical life-time batting averages. Terry hit .341 and Gehrig .340.

Long Has Ankle Injury, May Miss Fort Hill Game

An ankle injury may keep Michael Long, LaSalle High School's sharpshooting junior, out of action in tonight's game with Fort Hill, it was announced last night by Coach George W. Geatz.

X-rays were taken of the injured ankle last night and it will not be known until today whether the Explorers' scoring ace will be available for duty tonight.

If Long suffered a sprain the ankle may be taped to allow him to see some action but if he suffered a broken bone he will sit out the game.

Long suffered the injury while running on one of the local playgrounds.

Mike has scored 477 points in 21 games this season and has 1,023 points to his credit in three seasons at LaSalle.

Northern Trims Valley, 68-54

Patton Scores 30 To Pace Huskies

Big George Patton pumped in 30 points last night to lead Northern High School to a 68-54 triumph over Valley's Black Knights at Accident.

The triumph evened the Huskies' record at 9-9, with one of the victories being an earlier 72-62 win over the Knights, who dropped their 19th game of the season.

Northern led by only six points at intermission, 31-25, but the Huskies stretched the margin to 11 points in the third period and cut loose for 23 points in the final quarter to win going away.

Patton, who has amassed 477 in 18 games for an average of 26.5 per contest, accounted for 15 of the winners' 32 field goals last night. Danny Young and Tommy James, with 17 and 16 tallies, respectively, paced Valley.

Elk Garden Tops Eagles

Sweeps PVC Series By 63-51 Score

Elk Garden last night swept its series with Fort Ashby's Eagles, winning 63-51, on the latter's court in a Potomac Valley Conference game.

Fort Ashby trailed by five points early in the game then caught Elk Garden at 13-13 as the first quarter ended. With the score again knotted at 17-all Fort Ashby lost its high-scoring center, Paul Price, with an ankle injury and the Eagles star sat out the remainder of the game.

Elk Garden quickly jumped to the fore and maintained a comfortable margin the rest of the way. The Eagles pulled within six points at 57-51 in the last quarter but Elk Garden closed out the scoring with six straight points.

In the other contests Kingsley Methodist downed McKendree Methodist, 35-20, with a last-quarter spurt; St. Luke's easily beat Emmanuel Methodist, 33-13; and Melvin Methodist whipped LaVale Methodist, 35-29.

Zembower and Shipley shared 20 points for the losers.

McKendree battled fourth-place Kingsley on even terms through three periods before fading in the last quarter. GETTING AROUND TO IT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Ivy League helped pioneer college football back in the handle-bar mustache era, yet it wasn't organized as an official conference until 1956. All statistical records date from the beginning of that season.

Three Tournaments Set For Keyser This Week

Junior High, Class A Sectional, Tri-State Games Scheduled

Keyser becomes the basketball capital of the tri-state area this week with three tournaments and a flock of other games scheduled for a six-day period.

Beall and Keyser started the week of "shooting" last night.

Tonight, the P.V.C. Junior High School Tournament draws to a close at Keyser High School where Piedmont plays Keyser in the championship game at 8 p. m., following the consolation affair between Elk Garden and Southern of Oakland.

The Section 13, Class A tournament will get under way at the Potomac State College gymnasium Wednesday with Piedmont and Ridgeley tangling at 7 p. m., and Elk Garden facing Fort Ashby at 8:30 o'clock.

Play Johnnies Wednesday

Another Wednesday attraction is the 4 p. m., game between Potomac State and Johnstown (Pa.) Center. Coach "Horse" Lough's Catamounts will be concluding their 25-game schedule and they'll be shooting for their 16th triumph.

Thursday night, Bruce High's Bulldogs will tackle Keyser High School in Keyser and on the same night at Potomac State the Section 13 finals will be staged with the championship game at 8:30 and the consolation finale at 7.

The fourth annual Tri-State Junior College Conference Tournament, a two-day affair is slated to start Friday with Potomac State College as the host. If eight teams compete the tourney will get under way Friday afternoon.

Drawings for the Tri-State event will be made today at Shenandoah College, Winchester, Va. The winner at Keyser will qualify for the Tri-State regional tourney at Binghamton, N. Y.

The Tri-State tourney will end Saturday night.

Cats Won Last Year

Last year Potomac State won the tourney at Suitland (Md.) High School, beating Montgomery Junior College of Takoma Park, 103-69. The Catamounts lost out in the finals in the other tournaments. In 1958 Potomac bowed to Hagerstown, 71-68, at Silver Spring, and in 1959 at Hagerstown, Montgomery copped the final, 60-58.

Basketball Briefs

John R. Shelton, secretary of the Potomac Valley Conference, may change the date of the spring dinner meeting of the P.V.C. at Burlington, W.Va., from Monday, February 27 to Monday, March 6 because at least three of the league teams are scheduled to play early next week and what looms as the championship game between Beall and LaSalle will not be played until Tuesday, January 28. A week's delay would enable the conference to clean up all business for the season, select all-star teams and recognize the 1960-61 champion.

Two more games appear on the W.M.I. Basketball League schedule. Beall plays at Bruce Thursday night while the Fort Hill at Valley game is set for Monday, February 27.

Mt. Savage High School is setting some sort of a record for basketball activity.

John Thomas's Indians played at Beall last Friday, entertained Allegany Saturday, went to church on Sunday, played Bruce last night at Campobello, meet Hyndman at Mt. Savage tonight and battle Northern in Garrett County on Thursday night. That's five games in seven days. Playoffs and postponements caused the late season jam.

Martinsburg and South High of Hagerstown lock horns tonight in an important C.V.A.L. game at Martinsburg.

The Bulldogs lead the league with a 6-0 record and Nick Scallion's Rebels occupy the runner-up spot with 5-1.

South's overall record is 17-1 and Martinsburg's 16-1.

Martinsburg copped the series opener, 45-41. South has an eight-game winning streak going.

Hancock High can take the Washington County Class C crown tonight if it defeats Clear Spring. The records of the teams in the C race are: Hancock 3-0, Clear Spring 2-1. Hancock won the first game, 68-48.

Glenn Smith's Williamsport team is the B champion and South High has captured Class AA honors.

Homer Brooks' Frederick Cadets are Class AA champs in Frederick county and Emmittsburg is the C winner.

Walkersville, 1960 state Class C champions, leads the Frederick county D race with a 3-1 record. Brunswick trails with 4-2. Walkersville can clinch it by winning two games from Thurmont tonight and Friday.

Martinsburg Moves Up To 7th Place In W. Va. Ratings

Charnley Defends His Title Tonight

LONDON (UPI) — European, British and Empire lightweight champ Dave Charnley takes on French titleholder Fernand Nollet here Tuesday night in a 10-round European title fight which the British boast is "just sparring practice for the big one."

The "big one" is Charnley's second challenge to world kingpin Joe Brown of Houston, Texas, here April 18.

A defeat for Charnley would cancel the world title fight against Brown. On that point promoter Jack Solomons was adamant. Nollet's manager, Jean Bretonnel, has already asked for his charge to take over that chore if he wins.

BASEBALL VET

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Bill Dewitt, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds is in his 45th year of continuous major league service. He started in 1916 as office boy for Branch Rickey, then with the old St. Louis Browns.

Elk Garden Tops Eagles

Sweeps PVC Series By 63-51 Score

Elk Garden last night swept its series with Fort Ashby's Eagles, winning 63-51, on the latter's court in a Potomac Valley Conference game.

The win was the 15th in 19 games for the Elks who earlier defeated Fort Ashby, 77-67, at Elk Garden and the loss ended the Eagle's season at 13-8.

Fort Ashby trailed by five points early in the game then caught Elk Garden at 13-13 as the first quarter ended. With the score again knotted at 17-all Fort Ashby lost its high-scoring center, Paul Price, with an ankle injury and the Eagles star sat out the remainder of the game.

Elk Garden quickly jumped to the fore and maintained a comfortable margin the rest of the way. The Eagles pulled within six points at 57-51 in the last quarter but Elk Garden closed out the scoring with six straight points.

Presbyterian Scores, 38-28, Ties For Lead

Kingsley, Melvin Win Church Games

First Presbyterian handed Potomac Park a 38-28 defeat last night in the opener of four American Division games at Central YMCA to tie Grace Baptist for the division lead. Each team is 14-1 for the season.

In the other contests Kingsley Methodist downed McKendree Methodist, 35-20, with a last-quarter spurt; St. Luke's easily beat Emmanuel Methodist, 33-13; and Melvin Methodist whipped LaVale Methodist, 35-29.

Jim Arrowood and Lee Miller paced First Presbyterian's scoring attack with 15 and 13 points respectively as Coach Ced Miller's cagers chalked up their seventh straight win. Potomac Park dropped its 11th decision in 15 games.

Zembower and Shipley shared 20 points for the losers.

McKendree battled fourth-place Kingsley on even terms through three periods before fading in the last quarter. Kingsley (12-2) trailed 11-7 and 16-13 at the end of the first two stanzas before edging in front 20-19 in the third. A 15-point spurt in the last quarter handed McKendree its ninth loss. High man for the winners was Lewis with 11.

St. Luke's Lutheran won its sixth game with an easy triumph over Emmanuel Methodist (4-10) as the losers were held to six field goals. Adam was the top scorer for St. Luke's with 11 points. Best for Emmanuel Methodist was Ray Miller with five.

Melvin Methodist remained in the running for top honors in the American Division by downing LaVale Methodist. The win was Melvin's 10th in 13 games and they trail the leaders by three games with five to play. LaVale (9-6) remained a half-game ahead of the Maccabees in sixth place in the circuit.

GETTING AROUND TO IT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Ivy League helped pioneer college football back in the handle-bar mustache era, yet it wasn't organized as an official conference until 1956. All statistical records date from the beginning of that season.

Three Tournaments Set For Keyser This Week

Junior High, Class A Sectional, Tri-State Games Scheduled

Keyser becomes the basketball capital of the tri-state area this week with three tournaments and a flock of other games scheduled for a six-day period.

Beall and Keyser started the week of "shooting" last night.

Tonight, the P.V.C. Junior High School Tournament draws to a close at Keyser High School where Piedmont plays Keyser in the championship game at 8 p. m., following the consolation affair between Elk Garden and Southern of Oakland.

The Section 13, Class A tournament will get under way at the Potomac State College gymnasium Wednesday with Piedmont and Ridgeley tangling at 7 p. m., and Elk Garden facing Fort Ashby at 8:30 o'clock.

Play Johnnies Wednesday

Another Wednesday attraction is the 4 p. m., game between Potomac State and Johnstown (Pa.) Center. Coach "Horse" Lough's Catamounts will be concluding their 25-game schedule and they'll be shooting for their 16th triumph.

Thursday night, Bruce High's Bulldogs will tackle Keyser High School in Keyser and on the same night at Potomac State the Section 13 finals will be staged with the championship game at 8:30 and the consolation finale at 7.

The fourth annual Tri-State Junior College Conference Tournament, a two-day affair is slated to start Friday with Potomac State College as the host. If eight teams compete the tourney will get under way Friday afternoon.

Drawings for the Tri-State event will be made today at Shenandoah College, Winchester, Va. The winner at Keyser will qualify for the Tri-State regional tourney at Binghamton, N. Y.

The Tri-State tourney will end Saturday night.

Cats Won Last Year

Last year Potomac State won the tourney at Suitland (Md.) High School, beating Montgomery Junior College of Takoma Park, 103-69. The Catamounts lost out in the finals in the other tournaments. In 1958 Potomac bowed to Hagerstown, 71-68, at Silver Spring, and in 1959 at Hagerstown, Montgomery copped the final, 60-58.

Basketball Briefs

John R. Shelton, secretary of the Potomac Valley Conference, may change the date of the spring dinner meeting of the P.V.C. at Burlington, W.Va., from Monday, February 27 to Monday, March 6 because at least three of the league teams are scheduled to play early next week and what looms as the championship game between Beall and LaSalle will not be played until Tuesday, January 28. A week's delay would enable the conference to clean up all business for the season, select all-star teams and recognize the 1960-61 champion.

Two more games appear on the W.M.I. Basketball League schedule. Beall plays at Bruce Thursday night while the Fort Hill at Valley game is set for Monday, February 27.

Mt. Savage High School is setting some sort of a record for basketball activity.

John Thomas's Indians played at Beall last Friday, entertained Allegany Saturday, went to church on Sunday, played Bruce last night at Campobello, meet Hyndman at Mt. Savage tonight and battle Northern in Garrett County on Thursday night. That's five games in seven days. Playoffs and postponements caused the late season jam.

Martinsburg and South High of Hagerstown lock horns tonight in an important C.V.A.L. game at Martinsburg.

The Bulldogs lead the league with a 6-0 record and Nick Scallion's Rebels occupy the runner-up spot with 5-1.

South's overall record is 17-1 and Martinsburg's 16-1.

Martinsburg copped the series opener, 45-41. South has an eight-game winning streak going.

Hancock High can take the Washington County Class C crown tonight if it defeats Clear Spring. The records of the teams in the C race are: Hancock 3-0, Clear Spring 2-1. Hancock won the first game, 68-48.

Glenn Smith's Williamsport team is the B champion and South High has captured Class AA honors.

Homer Brooks' Frederick Cadets are Class AA champs in Frederick county and Emmittsburg is the C winner.

Walkersville, 1960 state Class C champions, leads the Frederick county D race with a 3-1 record. Brunswick trails with 4-2. Walkersville can clinch it by winning two games from Thurmont tonight and Friday.

Charnley Defends His Title Tonight

LONDON (UPI) — European, British and Empire lightweight champ Dave Charnley takes on French titleholder Fernand Nollet here Tuesday night in a 10-round European title fight which the British boast is "just sparring practice for the big one."

The "big one" is Charnley's second challenge to world kingpin Joe Brown of Houston, Texas, here April 18.

A defeat for Charnley would cancel the world title fight against Brown. On that point promoter Jack Solomons was adamant. Nollet's manager, Jean Bretonnel, has already asked for his charge to take over that chore if he wins.

BASEBALL VET

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Bill Dewitt, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds is in his 45th year of continuous major league service. He started in 1916 as office boy for Branch Rickey, then with the old St. Louis Browns.

Johnny Kucks Also Accepts Contract

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Lefthander Bud Daley, a 27-year-old knuckle ball artist who won 16 games for the Kansas City Athletics last year, signed his 1961 contract Monday after convincing General Manager Frank Lane he is worth more money.

SS. Peter-Paul Rings Up Fifth Straight Win

Defeats St. Peter's By Score Of 41-34

Dave Saveleski, the "Johnstown Flash" and Bernard Morrissey slammed in 22 points between them to pace SS. Peter & Paul cagers to their fifth consecutive victory of the second half championship race of the Catholic Youth Basketball League over St. Peter's of Westernport last night at SS. Peter & Paul gym.

The win enabled Coach Bob Mattingly's cagers to lengthen their lead over St. Peter's, runner-up quint, to 1½ games. The Westernport team has won four games and lost two.

After a 14-14 first half, SS. Peter & Paul took a 28-22 lead at the end of the third period and stayed on top throughout the final stanza although St. Peter's trailed by only two points at one time. Kerry Kelly's seven tallies in the last quarter sewed it up for the Fayette Street quint.

Bud Daley Gets Raise, Signs With Athletics

Johnny Kucks Also Accepts Contract

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Lefthander Bud Daley, a 27-year-old knuckle ball artist who won 16 games for the Kansas City Athletics last year, signed his 1961 contract Monday after convincing General Manager Frank Lane he is worth more money.

Daley's 16-16 record was the best last year among the American League club's weak pitching staff.

Daley reportedly received in the neighborhood of $17,000 last year.

Hoak, Burgess Sign

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UPI) — Don Hoak, the Pittsburgh Pirates' scrappy third baseman, and catchers Smoky Burgess and Bob Oldis Monday signed their 1961 contracts with the world champions.

Hoak, 33, was a key man in the Pirates' drive to the pennant last year, batting .282 with 16 home runs. Burgess hit .294 with seven home runs.

Triandos Satisfied

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) —Big Gus Triandos escaped the brand of holdout by 24 hours Monday by signing his seventh Baltimore Oriole contract, this one calling for an estimated $25,000 for the 1961 season. He received about the same last year.

Triandos will be given several days of grace from Tuesday's reporting deadline at the training camp here for pitchers and catchers. The entire squad is due in March 1.

Four Angels In Fold

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Third baseman Eddie Yost Monday led a parade of four Los Angeles Angels who sent in their signed 1961 contracts, General Manager Fred Haney announced.

In addition to Yost, those returning their signed contracts were shortstop Ken Hamlin, and outfielder Ken Hunt and Faye Throneberry. They brought to 25 the number of Angels signed by the new American League club which starts spring training Friday at Palm Springs, Calif.

Oxford-Cambridge Lacrosse Team To Play Johns Hopkins

BALTIMORE (AP)—Johns Hopkins University will play the Oxford - Cambridge lacrosse team here some time next month, coach Bob Scott announced Monday.

Scott, also a member of the international committee of the U. S. Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association, said March 30 has tentatively been set as the date for the game.

The 16-man British squad also is scheduled to play the University of Virginia, Washington and Lee College, Princeton, Yale, Army, R. P. I. and probably Hofstra. No dates were announced for those games.

It hasn't been decided whether British or U. S. rules will be used in the Hopkins game but Scott would prefer to play English style.

Giants Trade Mazurek

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants Monday traded defensive tackle Ed Mazurek to the Minnesota Vikings for offensive tackle Charlie Janerette in a straight player deal between the National Football League clubs.

SS. Peter-Paul Rings Up Fifth Straight Win

Defeats St. Peter's By Score Of 41-34

Dave Saveleski, the "Johnstown Flash" and Bernard Morrissey slammed in 22 points between them to pace SS. Peter & Paul cagers to their fifth consecutive victory of the second half championship race of the Catholic Youth Basketball League over St. Peter's of Westernport last night at SS. Peter & Paul gym.

The win enabled Coach Bob Mattingly's cagers to lengthen their lead over St. Peter's, runner-up quint, to 1½ games. The Westernport team has won four games and lost two.

After a 14-14 first half, SS. Peter & Paul took a 28-22 lead at the end of the third period and stayed on top throughout the final stanza although St. Peter's trailed by only two points at one time. Kerry Kelly's seven tallies in the last quarter sewed it up for the Fayette Street quint.

Stock Market Launches Week With Modest Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened the week with a modest gain Monday as traders responded to news of higher steel output and another batch of anti-recession measures by the administration. Activity rose slightly to 4,680,000 shares from 4,640,000 on Friday.

The Dow-Jones industrial average gained 1.98 to 653.65 but once again backed off from its high near the close as that indicator failed to fight its way decisively through the 656 resistance barrier. The high for the day was 657.27.

The market broadened to 1,286 issues traded including 661 advances and 427 declines while 94 stocks set new highs for th year. Not a single issue touched a new low.

Adding a depressing note to the upside drive, according to technicians, was a drop in short interest figures to the lowest level since Oct. 14, 1960. This means that fewer shares were "sold short" in the expectation of lower prices and therefore it represents less future demand when the short sellers buy back in again to return their vorrowed stock.

Despite this, most groups showed good gains with savings and loan stocks and building materials especially strong. Great Western Financial rose 2½ and First Charter Financial 3 as the issues responded to news that the government made it easier for the institutions to borrow money from the home loan banks.

Stock Market Launches Week With Modest Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened the week with a modest gain Monday as traders responded to news of higher steel output and another batch of anti-recession measures by the administration. Activity rose slightly to 4,680,000 shares from 4,640,000 on Friday.

The Dow-Jones industrial average gained 1.98 to 653.65 but once again backed off from its high near the close as that indicator failed to fight its way decisively through the 656 resistance barrier. The high for the day was 657.27.

The market broadened to 1,286 issues traded including 661 advances and 427 declines while 94 stocks set new highs for th year. Not a single issue touched a new low.

Adding a depressing note to the upside drive, according to technicians, was a drop in short interest figures to the lowest level since Oct. 14, 1960. This means that fewer shares were "sold short" in the expectation of lower prices and therefore it represents less future demand when the short sellers buy back in again to return their vorrowed stock.

Despite this, most groups showed good gains with savings and loan stocks and building materials especially strong. Great Western Financial rose 2½ and First Charter Financial 3 as the issues responded to news that the government made it easier for the institutions to borrow money from the home loan banks.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us in our bereavement following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Pearl G. Dorn. We also wish to extend our thanks to Rev. Carlton M. Harris, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
MRS. E. M. DORN
MRS. NEAL S. KELLY
MRS. JAMES C. MILLER

In Memoriam

In memory of Earl D. Robinson who passed away 2 years ago, February 21st, 1959.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still.
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Sadly missed by Wife, Daughters, Sons and Grandchildren.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us in our bereavement following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Pearl G. Dorn. We also wish to extend our thanks to Rev. Carlton M. Harris, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

MRS. E. M. DORN

In Memoriam

In memory of Earl D. Robinson who passed away 2 years ago, February 21st, 1959.

God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still.
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend

Sadly missed by Wife, Daughters, Sons and Grandchildren.

Hearing Today In Butchering

Two men will be given a hearing today in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of petty larceny in the shooting and butchering of a young bull.

The men, George H. Pent, Westernport, and George R. Tell, Akron, Ohio, have been charged in connection with the killing and butchering of a six-month-old Hereford bull owned by Tony Domenico of McCoole.

Tfc. Milton G. Hart arrested the two men Sunday and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya questioned them yesterday in the state's attorney's office.

Most of the meat was recovered, according to police.

Daily consumption last week was 13,296,000, according to the report submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday by Ray Nixon, acting water superintendent.

Mao Tse-Tung Is No Slouch At Writing

TOKYO (UPI) —When it comes to writing, Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung reputedly is no slouch.

Even objective western sinologists testify to the literary excellance of the balding Mao's poems. As a chronicler of the Communist revolution in China, Mao has evolved the theories that rank him — according to the Chinese — as a theorist on a par with Lenin and Marx.

Published on Oct. 1, the fourth volume of Mao Tse-tung's selected works has been a publisher's dream, Yagi reports. Yagi's views from inside the Bamboo Curtain were published recently in the Japanese magazine Shoho.

The question remained: Were any of the bindings being creased by readers? It has been hinted that the public in Red China had discovered that a copy of Mao's latest volume could open doors previously closed to non-conformists. Mao's writings likely grace the parlors of Red China's homes much as the Bible is found in many Christian living rooms.

"Most of these people were illiterate and showed no interest in reading in pre-Communist days," Yagi said. Now that they have learned grammar, the masses are starved for reading. With only those books and magazines approved by the Communist regime available, this too could account for Mao's popularity.

ABL Employe Gets 20-Year Citation

J. V. Yonce, superintendent of Quality Control at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto recently received a 20-year service pin and certificate.

He has been at ABL since April 1959. He was congratulated by J. B. Marx, manager of technical and general service division.

New Plastic Developed By Celanese

NEW YORK (AP) — Celanese Corp. of America Monday announced development of a new high-strength plastic called Celcon.

It is designed to replace metals and other plastics in automobiles, appliances, industrial equipment, containers, pipe, hardware and many other applications.

Production has been started at Celanese facilities at Clarkwood, Tex. The company said construction of a milti-million-dollar plant for producing the new acetal copolymer has begun at Bishop, Tex.

Harold Blancke, chairman of Celanese, said the company estimates "the total market for such high performance engineering plastics as Celcon will triple during the next three years and reach a level of 200 million pounds per year by 1970."

A major market will be in decorative and functional parts for automobiles where high strength and heat resistance are required. Current car models contain an average of 22 pounds of plastics and celanese said this is expected to rise to 60 pounds per car by 1970.

Celcon will be in competition with Delrin, developed by DuPont Co.

City Tax Levy

567.13 to run city departments until June 30.

Snow Costs Heavy

The exception was the Street and Alley Paving fund, which was overdrawn on paper by $20,064.53. The account is actually solvent, as the overdraft is more than covered by funds owed by property owners for street construction and resurfacing projects. The fund will be credited with this shared money as soon as liens are filed.

Amended Bill

appointments to handle traffic and criminal cases. They will be full time judges instead of the past part-time magistrates appointed by the governor.

The new judges would be paid accordingly for giving up their law practices entirely. The chief judge would receive $16,000 and the 10 others $15,000 apiece.

Another new proposal for this session was put in by four city delegates. It calls for all motor vehicle owners to be insured before they are granted registration.

At the same time, the state's relatively new unsatisfied claim and judgment fund would be abolished. This fund was started in 1958 to give insured motorists damaged by uninsured drivers a chance to collect.

Pay $26 Extra

The House also received from Democratic Dels. Margaret C. Schweinhaut and Blair Lee of Montgomery a resolution requesting appointment of a commission to study a Maryland system for periodically inspecting motor vehicles.

The resolution notes the House in the past has approved such inspection, but the Senate has balked.

The Schweinhaut-Lee resolution claims there is a strong popular demand for inspection "as a safety measure to eliminate mechanically unsafe vehicles . . . and to prevent Maryland from continuing to be the dumping ground for mechanically unfit vehicles. . ."

At the same time, Del. E. Homer White Jr., D - Wicomico, moved to exempt toy pistols and caps from Maryland's ban on fireworks.

School of the Deaf, Frederick, to compete in the high school Olympics in Helsinki, Finland, June 10. The association agrees and Chapter 914 plans a public card party to raise funds for the project, before June 1.

The conference leader was Mrs. Eva Twenty, Frederick, 347. The invocation was given by Mrs. Jennie Ruthvin and the welcome, Mrs. Evelyn Rinehart. Mrs Elizabeth Anthony, Easton, 1250 responded. Other speakers were Mayor Lansburg, Charles Main, chief of police; Mrs. Marie Holden, Hagerstown former member of the grand council; J Jack Stoehr, regional director; Thomas Matthew, Catonsville, deputy supreme governor and George Pelton, Mooseheart.

To Talk Taxes

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— State Tax Commissioner Donald C. Carmen will confer Tuesday in Washington with Internal Revenue Service officials to coordinate the new West Virginia income tax with the federal law. The new state tax is based on payment of about 6 per cent of the amount of federal income taxes a person pays.

Bid For Services Will Be Studied

Two matters involving property outside the city limits were brought before the Mayor and City Council yesterday. One received favorable action and the other was referred to the city attorney.

The city tax collector was authorized to reduce the assessment of Virginia Newman Miller on property at 1915 Frederick Street by 50 per cent as one half of the property lies outside the city limits.

Charles W. Redinger, who plans to build several houses on property owned by him on Willowbrook Road, just east of Constitution Par and located 100 feet from the city line, requested permission to tap city water and sewer lines at his own expense. This matter was referred to City Atterney William R. Carscaden.

Term Suspended In Assault Case

Powelson was found guilty of assaulting Irene White, 217 Bedford Street, at a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

15 Are Enrolled In Course At ABL

Ten of the students are ABL employes. The classes are being held on Mondays from 6 to 9 p. m. in the Polaris conference room.

Man Is Jailed In Default Of Fine

Charles D. Snyder, 20, of Ridgeley, yesterday was committed to the County Jail for 10 days in default of a $25 fine imposed on a motor vehicle charge.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett found Snyder guilty of reckless driving and ordered him jailed in default of the fine.

Area Counties

"If the framers of our Constitution had inteded to give the Legislature unlimited and absolute power in the making of an apportionment...they would simply have required the Legislature from time to time to 'apportion and district anew the members of the House of Delegates' and stop right there, or they would have said nothing on the subject," Robertson said.

"But the framers of our Constitution were unwilling to vest such discretionary and unlimited powers in the Legislature and so they prescribed specific methods, restrictions and limitations upon the exercise of such apportionment.

"Unless plain and simple words have lost their meaning, Section 6 of Article VI of our Constitution specifically prohibits the Legislature from apportioning delegate representatives to any county with 'a population of less than three-fifths of the ratio of representation for the House of Delegates.'"

Robertson said the "repeated violations of constitutional provisions — mandatory provisions" since 1901 "in no way justifies this present Legislature in ignoring mandatory constitutional provisions and asserting a discretion to which it is not entitled."

No Previous Test

"When constitutional requirements are plain and unambiguous as they are...they are not regarded as abrogated by any number of legislative violations of them," he said.

Legislative observers said they believed there had never been a court test in West Virginia of the system in effect since 1901 of ignoring the Constitution's delegate district provisions.

The question was raised last week when the House received from its Redistricting Committee a bill calling for a reapportionment affecting six counties, but leaving each with at least one delegate.

The bill, by Del. Callie Tsapis, D-Hancock, would have added two members to Kanawha's delegation and one each to Wood and Hancock County, taking two from McDowell and one each from Fayette and Logan.

Speaker Julius Singleton asked Robertson for the opinion after Del. Richard Parsons raised the constitutional question when the bill came before the House. It has been held at the amendment stage pending Robert's decision.

Robertson, a 34-year-old Clarksburg resident, is a former member of the House and began his term as attorney general only a month ago.

Congolese Children Starving

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Rev. Archie Graber would like you to know that while you are eating dinner tonight, eight children will die of starvation in the Congo.

If this information disturbs you, several thousand miles away, you can imagine how it affects the Rev. Mr. Graber, who is a Protestant missionary in the Congo's war-torn Bakwanga Province.

In a world hardened to the spectacle of human suffering, it has not been easy for the Rev. Mr. Graber and other missionaries to communicate their sense of shock and horror to the well-fed Christians of Europe and America.

But the message has finally gotten through, and the wheels of organized compassion are beginning to move.

Under the leadership of the World Council of Churches, a "Congo Protestant Relief Agency" has been established as a channel through which private individuals can supplement United Nations efforts to feed the hungry, shelter the homeless and care for the sick in the Congo.

The World Council has called on its member churches to raise at least $1 million for the Congo relief program. The money will be used for shipments of food and medicine, to be distributed by the 800 Protestant missionaries who are still at their posts in the turbulent Africa country.

Americans can contribute to this international, interdenominational effort through Church World Service, the overseas relief arm of the National Council of Churches.

Drawing on its own thin reserve funds, and emergency contributions from major denominations, Church World Service has already shipped thousands of tons of food and drugs to the Congo.

It is now seeking $500,000 in cash gifts from American church members to underwrite the work of the Congo Protestant Relief Agency.

Contributions may be made through local churches of any of the National Council's 35 constituent denominations, or directly to Church World Service, 475 Riverside Drive, New York.

Asphyxiation Is Cause Of Death

Joseph Thomas Ziler, 22, of National, who was found dead Sunday afternoon in his parked car inside a local service station, died as a result of asphysiation due to carbon monoxide, the deputy county medical examiner's office said yesterday.

Authorities said the ignition of Ziler's car was still on and the gasoline tank was empty when his body was found in Paul's Service Station, 104 Wineow Street, shortly after noon Sunday.

Paul Paugh, operator of the service station, said Ziler had a key to the premises and did work around the garage in exchange for the use of tools and the garage facilities.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the home of his parents in National. Rev. Clarence McCloud, pastor of the Midland Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in Sunset Memorial Park.

Mr. Fleming said all phases of police operations will be discussed.

Mao Tse-Tung Is No Slouch At Writing

TOKYO (UPI) —When it comes to writing, Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung reputedly is no slouch.

Even objective western sinologists testify to the literary excellance of the balding Mao's poems. As a chronicler of the Communist revolution in China, Mao has evolved the theories that rank him — according to the Chinese — as a theorist on a par with Lenin and Marx.

And if what the Chinese claim is true, Mao ranks right along with Erskine Caldwell and D.H. Lawrence as a purveyor of popular pulps for the public.

Hiroshi Yagi, a Japanese resident in Peiping, reports that Chinese laborers, farmers and housewives are standing up all night in front of Peiping bookstores to buy Mao's latest endeavors.

Published on Oct. 1, the fourth volume of Mao Tse-tung's selected works has been a publisher's dream, Yagi reports. Yagi's views from inside the Bamboo Curtain were published recently in the Japanese magazine Shoho.

More than thre million copies of this volume have rolled off Red China's presses.

The question remained: Were any of the bindings being creased by readers? It has been hinted that the public in Red China had discovered that a copy of Mao's latest volume could open doors previously closed to non-conformists. Mao's writings likely grace the parlors of Red China's homes much as the Bible is found in many Christian living rooms.

In addition, a passing acquaintance with the contents of Mao's writings might convince an otherwise suspicious Communist Party cadre of the owner's sincerity. Indications tended to show that many persons have been hitting the books for a little Socialist knowledge.

Another factor would tend to motivate readers.

"Most of these people were illiterate and showed no interest in reading in pre-Communist days," Yagi said. Now that they have learned grammar, the masses are starved for reading. With only those books and magazines approved by the Communist regime available, this too could account for Mao's popularity.

ABL Employe Gets 20-Year Citation

J. V. Yonce, superintendent of Quality Control at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto recently received a 20-year service pin and certificate.

He has been at ABL since April 1959. He was congratulated by J. B. Marx, manager of technical and general service division.

New Plastic Developed By Celanese

NEW YORK (AP) — Celanese Corp. of America Monday announced development of a new high-strength plastic called Celcon.

It is designed to replace metals and other plastics in automobiles, appliances, industrial equipment, containers, pipe, hardware and many other applications.

Production has been started at Celanese facilities at Clarkwood, Tex. The company said construction of a milti-million-dollar plant for producing the new acetal copolymer has begun at Bishop, Tex.

Harold Blancke, chairman of Celanese, said the company estimates "the total market for such high performance engineering plastics as Celcon will triple during the next three years and reach a level of 200 million pounds per year by 1970."

A major market will be in decorative and functional parts for automobiles where high strength and heat resistance are required. Current car models contain an average of 22 pounds of plastics and celanese said this is expected to rise to 60 pounds per car by 1970.

Celcon will be in competition with Delrin, developed by DuPont Co.

City Tax Levy

567.13 to run city departments until June 30.

Snow Costs Heavy

With the exception of one fund, departments were operating in the black.

The exception was the Street and Alley Paving fund, which was overdrawn on paper by $20,064.53. The account is actually solvent, as the overdraft is more than covered by funds owed by property owners for street construction and resurfacing projects. The fund will be credited with this shared money as soon as liens are filed.

Amended Bill

appointments to handle traffic and criminal cases. They will be full time judges instead of the past part-time magistrates appointed by the governor.

The new judges would be paid accordingly for giving up their law practices entirely. The chief judge would receive $16,000 and the 10 others $15,000 apiece.

Another new proposal for this session was put in by four city delegates. It calls for all motor vehicle owners to be insured before they are granted registration.

At the same time, the state's relatively new unsatisfied claim and judgment fund would be abolished. This fund was started in 1958 to give insured motorists damaged by uninsured drivers a chance to collect.

Pay $26 Extra

Uninsured motorists are to be charged an extra $26 for their license plates this year for the fund.

The House also received from Democratic Dels. Margaret C. Schweinhaut and Blair Lee of Montgomery a resolution requesting appointment of a commission to study a Maryland system for periodically inspecting motor vehicles.

The resolution notes the House in the past has approved such inspection, but the Senate has balked.

The Schweinhaut-Lee resolution claims there is a strong popular demand for inspection "as a safety measure to eliminate mechanically unsafe vehicles . . . and to prevent Maryland from continuing to be the dumping ground for mechanically unfit vehicles. . ."

On another legislative front, Del. Joseph H. McElwee proposed that all public school children be immunized against polio before being admitted.

At the same time, Del. E. Homer White Jr., D - Wicomico, moved to exempt toy pistols and caps from Maryland's ban on fireworks.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— State Tax Commissioner Donald C. Carmen will confer Tuesday in Washington with Internal Revenue Service officials to coordinate the new West Virginia income tax with the federal law. The new state tax is based on payment of about 6 per cent of the amount of federal income taxes a person pays.

Bid For Services Will Be Studied

Two matters involving property outside the city limits were brought before the Mayor and City Council yesterday. One received favorable action and the other was referred to the city attorney.

The city tax collector was authorized to reduce the assessment of Virginia Newman Miller on property at 1915 Frederick Street by 50 per cent as one half of the property lies outside the city limits.

Charles W. Redinger, who plans to build several houses on property owned by him on Willowbrook Road, just east of Constitution Par and located 100 feet from the city line, requested permission to tap city water and sewer lines at his own expense. This matter was referred to City Atterney William R. Carscaden.

Term Suspended In Assault Case

Donald Powelson, 27, of 19 Lyons Street, Ridgeley, yesterday was given a six-month suspended sentence in the County Jail on an assault charge.

Powelson was found guilty of assaulting Irene White, 217 Bedford Street, at a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

15 Are Enrolled In Course At ABL

Fifteen persons have enrolled in the West Virginia University extension course in advanced engineering thermodynamics being given at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Ten of the students are ABL employes. The classes are being held on Mondays from 6 to 9 p. m. in the Polaris conference room.

Man Is Jailed In Default Of Fine

Charles D. Snyder, 20, of Ridgeley, yesterday was committed to the County Jail for 10 days in default of a $25 fine imposed on a motor vehicle charge.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett found Snyder guilty of reckless driving and ordered him jailed in default of the fine.

Area Counties

11,162. The 13 counties he listed each has less than 11,162 inhabitants.

"If the framers of our Constitution had inteded to give the Legislature unlimited and absolute power in the making of an apportionment...they would simply have required the Legislature from time to time to 'apportion and district anew the members of the House of Delegates' and stop right there, or they would have said nothing on the subject," Robertson said.

"But the framers of our Constitution were unwilling to vest such discretionary and unlimited powers in the Legislature and so they prescribed specific methods, restrictions and limitations upon the exercise of such apportionment.

"Unless plain and simple words have lost their meaning, Section 6 of Article VI of our Constitution specifically prohibits the Legislature from apportioning delegate representatives to any county with 'a population of less than three-fifths of the ratio of representation for the House of Delegates.'"

Robertson said the "repeated violations of constitutional provisions — mandatory provisions" since 1901 "in no way justifies this present Legislature in ignoring mandatory constitutional provisions and asserting a discretion to which it is not entitled."

No Previous Test

"When constitutional requirements are plain and unambiguous as they are...they are not regarded as abrogated by any number of legislative violations of them," he said.

Legislative observers said they believed there had never been a court test in West Virginia of the system in effect since 1901 of ignoring the Constitution's delegate district provisions.

The question was raised last week when the House received from its Redistricting Committee a bill calling for a reapportionment affecting six counties, but leaving each with at least one delegate.

The bill, by Del. Callie Tsapis, D-Hancock, would have added two members to Kanawha's delegation and one each to Wood and Hancock County, taking two from McDowell and one each from Fayette and Logan.

Speaker Julius Singleton asked Robertson for the opinion after Del. Richard Parsons raised the constitutional question when the bill came before the House. It has been held at the amendment stage pending Robert's decision.

Robertson, a 34-year-old Clarksburg resident, is a former member of the House and began his term as attorney general only a month ago.

Congolese Children Starving

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Rev. Archie Graber would like you to know that while you are eating dinner tonight, eight children will die of starvation in the Congo.

If this information disturbs you, several thousand miles away, you can imagine how it affects the Rev. Mr. Graber, who is a Protestant missionary in the Congo's war-torn Bakwanga Province.

He doesn't read about starving children. He watches them die, at the rate of 200 a day, and helps to bury their bloated little black bodies.

In a world hardened to the spectacle of human suffering, it has not been easy for the Rev. Mr. Graber and other missionaries to communicate their sense of shock and horror to the well-fed Christians of Europe and America.

But the message has finally gotten through, and the wheels of organized compassion are beginning to move.

Under the leadership of the World Council of Churches, a "Congo Protestant Relief Agency" has been established as a channel through which private individuals can supplement United Nations efforts to feed the hungry, shelter the homeless and care for the sick in the Congo.

The World Council has called on its member churches to raise at least $1 million for the Congo relief program. The money will be used for shipments of food and medicine, to be distributed by the 800 Protestant missionaries who are still at their posts in the turbulent Africa country.

Americans can contribute to this international, interdenominational effort through Church World Service, the overseas relief arm of the National Council of Churches.

Drawing on its own thin reserve funds, and emergency contributions from major denominations, Church World Service has already shipped thousands of tons of food and drugs to the Congo.

It is now seeking $500,000 in cash gifts from American church members to underwrite the work of the Congo Protestant Relief Agency.

Contributions may be made through local churches of any of the National Council's 35 constituent denominations, or directly to Church World Service, 475 Riverside Drive, New York.

Asphyxiation Is Cause Of Death

Joseph Thomas Ziler, 22, of National, who was found dead Sunday afternoon in his parked car inside a local service station, died as a result of asphysiation due to carbon monoxide, the deputy county medical examiner's office said yesterday.

Authorities said the ignition of Ziler's car was still on and the gasoline tank was empty when his body was found in Paul's Service Station, 104 Wineow Street, shortly after noon Sunday.

An autopsy was performed at a local hospital.

Paul Paugh, operator of the service station, said Ziler had a key to the premises and did work around the garage in exchange for the use of tools and the garage facilities.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the home of his parents in National. Rev. Clarence McCloud, pastor of the Midland Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in Sunset Memorial Park.

University Plan Is Studied By Delegation

Legislators Hope For Final Decision

Allegany County legislators met last night in Annapolis to take formal action on a proposal to make Frostburg State Teachers College a center of the University of Maryland and were near agreement at the end of a two-hour executive session.

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, reported at 9:20 p. m. that the Delegation and State Senator Charles M. See were about to go into session.

Immediately after the session ended last night, Delegate Driscoll reported that the seven legislators were near "complete agreement" on the proposed legislation. However, some specific questions raised at the session could not be answered. He said the legislators hope to get the answers to these questions today and then will be ready for agreement.

The legislators last Tuesday discussed the plan at some length but deferred definite action to allow a meeting with opponents of the plan in Frostburg Saturday afternoon.

Two Democratic members, Delegates Thomas F. Conlon Jr. and William Walsh, announced prior to last Tuesday's meeting that they were in favor of the proposal but did not press for a formal vote among all seven members of the legislative delegation.

Sports Car Races Yield $21,971.53

The Cumberland Lions Foundation Inc. realized a profit of $21,971.53 from the 1960 Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Races, according to the final financial report just released.

Total income of $57,494.29 was offset by expenses of $35,522.76.

Admissions, which totaled $27,620, accounted for less than half of the total income. Advertising brought in $15,105.54, concessions $7,805.10, administration $6,179.40 and banquets $766.25.

Only administration failed to realize a profit. Advertising expense of $5,824.87 left a profit of $9,280.67 in this account. The admission expenses of $1,128.54 left a $26,491.46 profit in this account. Banquets yielded a $127.30 profit.

Concession expenses of $4,009.15 left a profit of $3,795.95 from this source. However, administration expenses of $23,921.25 left a deficit of $17,723.85 in this account.

Of the $21,971.53 profit, $20,000 was turned over to the Lions Foundation last June 22 to be distributed to various civic and charitable projects during the year. The other $1,971.53 remains in a bank account.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Harold Lee Haines vs. Sandra Lee Haines, Donna Rae Abe vs. Walter Franklin Abe and Bertha Helen Boyer vs. Samuel W. Boyer.

Area Counties Could Lose Delegates

Attorney General Gives W. Va. View

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Atty. Gen. Donald Robertson told the Legislature Monday that the 60-year-old practive of giving each West Virginia county a House of Delegates member no matter how small its population is plainly unconstitutional.

The opinion, if accepted by the Legislature — or upheld by the courts if ignored by the lawmakers — could mean the loss of their delegate for 13 counties.

Robertson listed them as Calhoun, Doddridge, Gilmer, Grant, Hardy, Morgan, Pendleton, Pleasants, Pocahontas, Ritchie, Tucker, Tyler and Wirt.

His opinion would strengthen urban — while weakening rural—representation in the House of Delegates.

Robertson told the Legislature, in an opinion written at the request of the House of Delegates, that these counties should be attached to adjoining counties to form "delegate districts" as provided for in Section 6 of Article VI of the state Constitution.

Such delegate districts were used until 1901 when the Legislature in a reapportionment act provided that each county should have at least one House member. Senatorial districts are set up on a population basis, with each district except the 8th, Kanawha County, covering more than one county.

Robertson noted that the Constitution says that "every county containing a population of less than three - fifths of the ratio of representation for the House of Delegates, shall at each apportionment, be attached to some contiguous county or counties, to form a delegate district."

Power "Not Unlimited"

On the basis of the 1960 census and a 100-member House, the ratio per member would be 18,604, of which three - fifths would be

Local Moose Submits Bids For 1962 Convention

Several members of Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, of Cumberland, attended the annual mid-winter conference of the District Moose Association this past weekend in Frederick.

The association is made up of Moose lodges in Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

The local group, headed by Frank J. Davis, past president of the Maryland Moose Association, made a strong bid for the 1962 state summer convention.

Also attending from the local lodge were Arthur Gellner, Herman Lewis, Russell Minnicks, John Angellatta and Leo Wolfe.

It was announced at the conference that the association had raised $1,365 to send a youth from the Maryland School for Deaf to the High School Olympics this summer in Finland.

The money will be contributed by both the Women of the Moose and the various Moose lodges.

The local Moose lodge also announced it will begin a membership on March 1.

Fire Company Lists Activities

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company will hold a shrimp feed March 25 from 6 to 9 p. m. at the fire hall.

Members of the fire unit planning to attend the firemen's smoker April 15 in Lonaconing, should submit their names at the fire hall by Monday, February 27.

The company also announced any member of the unit planning to get fire department auto license tags should submit their license applications to Carl Mallow, Donald Ware, Edward Gnegy or Delbert Gable by March 2.

Ambulance Meeting To Be Arranged

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday the City of Cumberland hopes to arrange a meeting on ambulance service in the near future.

He said the city's part in the plan will be to help arrange for the service, adding it will have no part in the financial picture.

He said the city knows of a party which would like to come here to provide the service which the Astor Ambulance Service plans to discontinue soon.

City Tax Levy Reaches 98.6 Per Cent Mark

Excess Collections May Help Surplus

A report on the Condition of the Levy, prepared by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, shows that the City had collected 98.6 per cent of its tax levy, 88.5 per cent of its total levy and that spending was lagging two points below par.

By the end of January, $1,230,620.81 had been collected on the tax levy. This left only $16,379.19 to come in and made it certain there will be a substantial amount of excess tax collections to apply toward the surplus city officials hope to have to prime the pump in fiscal 1961-1962.

Collections Good

Collections on the $1,899,930 which was levied to meet the cost of providing city services and meeting payments due on the principal and interest on the city's debt totaled $1,682,447.92.

This is 88½ per cent of the total levy and leaves only $218,865.33 to be collected. Slightly over half of this is represented by taxes collected by the state and shared with municipalities.

The City began the fiscal year with a surplus of $239,000. Failure to end the year with a comparable amount will mean fiscal trouble next year.

During the first seven months, $936,107.90 was spent to provide city services. This was 56.3 per cent of the $1,661,610.50 appropriated and left a balance of $745,-

Pence To Head Water Safety Committee

Learn-To-Swim Program Advocated

Robert E. Pence, 1101 Holland Street, supervisor of physical education in Allegany County public schools, has been named chairman of the water safety committee of the Allegany County Red Cross chapter.

C. M. Sanner, chairman of the executive board of the chapter, said last night that Mr. Pence will replace Dr. John T. Gorman.

The new chairman has been vitally interested in water safety in past years and was a member of the Red Cross committee before being named chairman.

Teaching every child to swim has long been advocated by Mr. Pence who has cooperated with the Red Cross in setting up various swimming courses throughout the county.

He has held the position with the public schools system since 1956, and for four years prior to that was director of recreation in Cumberland.

From 1946 to 1952 he was football coach at Allegany High School. In 1943 he received his A.B. degree at Fairmont State College and in 1950 he received his M.S. degree at West Virginia University.

A native of Fairmont, he is married and the father of three daughters.

Police Limit Parking On Two Streets

Other Bans Are Being Considered

Plans for immediate restriction of parking on two city streets and a contemplated ban on parking on three areas were announced yesterday by Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Scheduled immediately, he said, is parking on one side only on Piedmont Avenue and Rose Hill Avenue.

Mr. Fleming said parking will be allowed only on the right side, going north, on Piedmont Avenue, and on the right side, going up, on Rose Hill Avenue.

He said signs will be placed on the streets as soon as they arrive, but that the plan is being placed into effect at once, so motorists affected will have a chance to arrange for parking facilities.

Contemplated in the near future, he said, is a ban on all parking on Baker, Upper Bedford and Smith streets.

He said he will discuss with the Mayor and Council soon the Hill Top Drive situation, which may have to be made one way south, with parking restricted to the North side of the street.

Mr. Fleming said it will be necessary to meet with city bus officials before the Hill Top Drive change is made, since it will require a rerouting of city buses.

The Police Department last Tuesday ordered parking on only one side of Gephart Drive.

State GIs To Receive $4,357,500

An estimated 85,500 veterans in Maryland will receive a total of $4,357,500 in GI insurance dividends under the speeded-up payment program ordered by President Kennedy to assist the economy.

Trevor E. Hodges, contact officer of the Veterans Administration regional office in Baltimore, said Friday, the dividends would go to veterans who currently hold participating VA life insurance policies. The dividends are not a gratuity, he added, but are made because the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be lower than the mortality rate upon which their premiums were established by law.

Mr. Hodges assured veterans they will receive their dividends as soon as possible under the expedited timetable, and urged them not to write.

The local VA office is located in Room 308 of the Post Office Building and Sam Weston, officer in charge, can furnish additional information on all types of VA life insurance policies.

Legion Plans Installation

C. W. Huff, commander of the Tenth District, American Legion, will install officers of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, today at 8 p. m. in Ridgeley.

Officers who will be installed this evening include: William F. Andrews, commander; K. Albert Wolfe, vice commander; Raymond Hershberger, adjutant; Leroy Fleming, finance officer; Roland G. Showers, service officer.

The Ladies Auxiliary unit will serve refreshments after the installation meeting.

Municipal League To Meet Here

Planning Session Is Set Thursday

A meeting will be held here this week to begin planning for the 14th annual convention of the Maryland Municipal League here this October.

Two representatives of the League, Alan Beals, executive secretary, and Walter A. Scheiber, Rockville city manager, will meet here Thursday with Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who is vice president of the league, which represents most Maryland municipalities.

Mayor Keech said Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, will assist in the planning work.

The League last fall accepted an invitation from Mayor Keech to hold its fall meeting in Cumberland.

It will be the first time the League has met in this Western Maryland industrial and transportation center.

Mayor Keech said he will ask area organizations to help welcome delegates and their wives to this area.

Amended Bill On Insurance Risk Passes

Company Gets Two Years To Comply

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The once bitterly controversial insurance risk bill was passed Monday night by the House of Delegates with hardly a notice.

Attention was drawn to the bill only by three delegates with a personal business interest in it asking to be excused and another belatedly casting the only vote in the negative. There were 91 affirmatives.

There was no discussion and Del. Carl W. Bacharach, D-Balto 5th, was the lone recorded negative after he missed the original roll call.

The bill being sent to the Senate will give existing insurance firms two years to comply with its provisions. The only firm with a state charter falling under the bill is Security Financial Insurance Corporation.

Passes Quietly

Three Baltimore County delegates, A. Gordon Boone, Roy N. Staten, and Charles S. Culver, are among officials of the company. So is Maryland's Democratic national committeeman, Michael J. Birmingham.

Their company cannot presently comply with the bill to require a company to have 10 times in assets the amount it is insuring under any one policy.

The insurance limit bill was introduced by Del. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Harford, who was nominated Monday by President Kennedy to be U. S. attorney for Maryland.

While the insurance bill passed quietly, another literally big legislative project arrived. It is a bill to implement approval by the voters last November of a municipal court replacing the magistrate system in Baltimore City.

Is Long Bill

The bill is 61 pages long and its details will be the subject of considerable tugging among the city delegates and senators before it reaches either floor.

The main provisions are the election of 11 judges after original

Two Clothing Courses Being Offered Here

Courses in clothing alterations and the construction of a simple dress are being offered to the public as a service of the adult education program of the Allegany County Board of Education.

Miss Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics education in public schools of the county, said both courses will begin on March 2 and will be held from 1:15 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. each Thursday for six weeks.

Mrs. Marie Farrell will give pointers and show how to make clothing alterations in the course which will be held at the LaVale School.

The first hour will be devoted to demonstrating simple methods of clothing construction. The remainder of the time will be devoted to helping individuals with personal fitting problems.

Mrs. Norma Lester will demonstrate the construction of a simple dress during the course which will be offered at John Humbird School.

The class will be devoted to demonstrating methods of clothing construction. Pointers will be given on pattern selection, fabric selections, and sewing techniques.

Heart Patients Can Return To Work, Service Shows

The Work Evaluation Unit of the Heart Association of Maryland, through the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, offers a service that demonstrates that patients can be returned safely and productively to work, according to James W. Bishop, president of the two-county organization.

On referral from a physician, he said, a team of experts examines each patient, discusses his vocational potnetial with him and offers its opinion regarding future employment.

He pointed out that in the first five years of its operation, the clinic studied 617 patients. Almost 90 per cent were found to be reemployable. Six months after being studied, 60 per cent had been assisted by the clinic to return to work.

Since its beginning to the end of the 1960 fiscal year, the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association sent 24 patients to the unit. In cases of financial difficulties, transportation to the clinic, which is held at University Hospital, Baltimore, was furnished, Mr. Bishop stated.

Of the 24, 11 returned to work—two through vocational rehabilitation services who were schooled and placed in jobs; four retired; one expired; five were not able to work, and one continued rehabilitation school, the association president said.

The Heart Association is conducting its February-long fund drive, which will hit its pinnacle Sunday—Heart Sunday.

University Plan Is Studied By Delegation

Legislators Hope For Final Decision

Allegany County legislators met last night in Annapolis to take formal action on a proposal to make Frostburg State Teachers College a center of the University of Maryland and were near agreement at the end of a two-hour executive session.

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, reported at 9:20 p. m. that the Delegation and State Senator Charles M. See were about to go into session.

Immediately after the session ended last night, Delegate Driscoll reported that the seven legislators were near "complete agreement" on the proposed legislation. However, some specific questions raised at the session could not be answered. He said the legislators hope to get the answers to these questions today and then will be ready for agreement.

The legislators last Tuesday discussed the plan at some length but deferred definite action to allow a meeting with opponents of the plan in Frostburg Saturday afternoon.

County legislators at last night's meeting studied the plan in the light of a rough draft of the complex legislation needed to put the merger into effect.

The lack of a bill which would spell out the mechanics was one of the things which delayed action as a delegation.

Two Democratic members, Delegates Thomas F. Conlon Jr. and William Walsh, announced prior to last Tuesday's meeting that they were in favor of the proposal but did not press for a formal vote among all seven members of the legislative delegation.

Sports Car Races Yield $21,971.53

The Cumberland Lions Foundation Inc. realized a profit of $21,971.53 from the 1960 Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Races, according to the final financial report just released.

Total income of $57,494.29 was offset by expenses of $35,522.76.

Admissions, which totaled $27,620, accounted for less than half of the total income. Advertising brought in $15,105.54, concessions $7,805.10, administration $6,179.40 and banquets $766.25.

Only administration failed to realize a profit. Advertising expense of $5,824.87 left a profit of $9,280.67 in this account. The admission expenses of $1,128.54 left a $26,491.46 profit in this account. Banquets yielded a $127.30 profit.

Concession expenses of $4,009.15 left a profit of $3,795.95 from this source. However, administration expenses of $23,921.25 left a deficit of $17,723.85 in this account.

Of the $21,971.53 profit, $20,000 was turned over to the Lions Foundation last June 22 to be distributed to various civic and charitable projects during the year. The other $1,971.53 remains in a bank account.

Area Counties Could Lose Delegates

Attorney General Gives W. Va. View

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Atty. Gen. Donald Robertson told the Legislature Monday that the 60-year-old practive of giving each West Virginia county a House of Delegates member no matter how small its population is plainly unconstitutional.

The opinion, if accepted by the Legislature — or upheld by the courts if ignored by the lawmakers — could mean the loss of their delegate for 13 counties.

Robertson listed them as Calhoun, Doddridge, Gilmer, Grant, Hardy, Morgan, Pendleton, Pleasants, Pocahontas, Ritchie, Tucker, Tyler and Wirt.

His opinion would strengthen urban — while weakening rural—representation in the House of Delegates.

Robertson told the Legislature, in an opinion written at the request of the House of Delegates, that these counties should be attached to adjoining counties to form "delegate districts" as provided for in Section 6 of Article VI of the state Constitution.

Such delegate districts were used until 1901 when the Legislature in a reapportionment act provided that each county should have at least one House member. Senatorial districts are set up on a population basis, with each district except the 8th, Kanawha County, covering more than one county.

Robertson noted that the Constitution says that "every county containing a population of less than three - fifths of the ratio of representation for the House of Delegates, shall at each apportionment, be attached to some contiguous county or counties, to form a delegate district."

Power "Not Unlimited"

On the basis of the 1960 census and a 100-member House, the ratio per member would be 18,604, of which three - fifths would be

Also attending from the local lodge were Arthur Gellner, Herman Lewis, Russell Minnicks, John Angellatta and Leo Wolfe.

It was announced at the conference that the association had raised $1,365 to send a youth from the Maryland School for Deaf to the High School Olympics this summer in Finland.

The money will be contributed by both the Women of the Moose and the various Moose lodges.

The local Moose lodge also announced it will begin a membership on March 1.

City Tax Levy Reaches 98.6 Per Cent Mark

Excess Collections May Help Surplus

Finances of the City of Cumberland appeared to be in good shape as the seventh month of the fiscal year ended January 31.

A report on the Condition of the Levy, prepared by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, shows that the City had collected 98.6 per cent of its tax levy, 88.5 per cent of its total levy and that spending was lagging two points below par.

By the end of January, $1,230,620.81 had been collected on the tax levy. This left only $16,379.19 to come in and made it certain there will be a substantial amount of excess tax collections to apply toward the surplus city officials hope to have to prime the pump in fiscal 1961-1962.

Collections Good

Collections on the $1,899,930 which was levied to meet the cost of providing city services and meeting payments due on the city's debt totaled $1,682,447.92.

This is 88½ per cent of the total levy and leaves only $218,865.33 to be collected. Slightly over half of this is represented by taxes collected by the state and shared with municipalities.

The City began the fiscal year with a surplus of $239,000. Failure to end the year with a comparable amount will mean fiscal trouble next year.

During the first seven months, $936,107.90 was spent to provide city services. This was 56.3 per cent of the $1,661,610.50 appropriated and left a balance of $745,-

Police Limit Parking On Two Streets

Other Bans Are Being Considered

Plans for immediate restriction of parking on two city streets and a contemplated ban on parking on three areas were announced yesterday by Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Scheduled immediately, he said, is parking on one side only on Piedmont Avenue and Rose Hill Avenue.

Mr. Fleming said parking will be allowed only on the right side, going north, on Piedmont Avenue, and on the right side, going up, on Rose Hill Avenue.

He said signs will be placed on the streets as soon as they arrive, but that the plan is being placed into effect at once, so motorists affected will have a chance to arrange for parking facilities.

Contemplated in the near future, he said, is a ban on all parking on Baker, Upper Bedford and Smith streets.

He said he will discuss with the Mayor and Council soon the Hill Top Drive situation, which may have to be made one way south, with parking restricted to the North side of the street.

Mr. Fleming said it will be necessary to meet with city bus officials before the Hill Top Drive change is made, since it will require a rerouting of city buses.

The Police Department last Tuesday ordered parking on only one side of Gephart Drive.

State GIs To Receive $4,357,500

An estimated 85,500 veterans in Maryland will receive a total of $4,357,500 in GI insurance dividends under the speeded-up payment program ordered by President Kennedy to assist the economy.

Trevor E. Hodges, contact officer of the Veterans Administration regional office in Baltimore, said Friday, the dividends would go to veterans who currently hold participating VA life insurance policies. The dividends are not a gratuity, he added, but are made because the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be lower than the mortality rate upon which their premiums were established by law.

Mr. Hodges assured veterans they will receive their dividends as soon as possible under the expedited timetable, and urged them not to write.

The local VA office is located in Room 308 of the Post Office Building and Sam Weston, officer in charge, can furnish additional information on all types of VA life insurance policies.

Amended Bill On Insurance Risk Passes

Company Gets Two Years To Comply

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The once bitterly controversial insurance risk bill was passed Monday night by the House of Delegates with hardly a notice.

Attention was drawn to the bill only by three delegates with a personal business interest in it asking to be excused and another belatedly casting the only vote in the negative. There were 91 affirmatives.

There was no discussion and Del. Carl W. Bacharach, D-Balto 5th, was the lone recorded negative after he missed the original roll call.

Before the bill was amended last week in a compromise, it had been facing an uphill battle.

The bill being sent to the Senate will give existing insurance firms two years to comply with its provisions. The only firm with a state charter falling under the bill is Security Financial Insurance Corporation.

Passes Quietly

Three Baltimore County delegates, A. Gordon Boone, Roy N. Staten, and Charles S. Culver, are among officials of the company. So is Maryland's Democratic national committeeman, Michael J. Birmingham.

Their company cannot presently comply with the bill to require a company to have 10 times in assets the amount it is insuring under any one policy.

The insurance limit bill was introduced by Del. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Harford, who was nominated Monday by President Kennedy to be U. S. attorney for Maryland.

While the insurance bill passed quietly, another literally big legislative project arrived. It is a bill to implement approval by the voters last November of a municipal court replacing the magistrate system in Baltimore City.

Is Long Bill

The bill is 61 pages long and its details will be the subject of considerable tugging among the city delegates and senators before it reaches either floor.

The main provisions are the election of 11 judges after original

Mrs. Norma Lester will demonstrate the construction of a simple dress during the course which will be offered at John Humbird School.

The class will be devoted to demonstrating methods of clothing construction. Pointers will be given on pattern selection, fabric selections, and sewing techniques.

Heart Patients Can Return To Work, Service Shows

The Work Evaluation Unit of the Heart Association of Maryland, through the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, offers a service that demonstrates that patients can be returned safely and productively to work, according to James W. Bishop, president of the two-county organization.

On referral from a physician, he said, a team of experts examines each patient, discusses his vocational potnetial with him and offers its opinion regarding future employment.

He pointed out that in the first five years of its operation, the clinic studied 617 patients. Almost 90 per cent were found to be employable. Six months after being studied, 60 per cent had been assisted by the clinic to return to work.

Since its beginning to the end of the 1960 fiscal year, the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association sent 24 patients to the unit. In cases of financial difficulties, transportation to the clinic, which is held at University Hospital, Baltimore, was furnished, Mr. Bishop stated.

Of the 24, 11 returned to work—two through vocational rehabilitation services who were schooled and placed in jobs; four retired; one expired; five were not able to work, and one continued rehabilitation school, the association president said.

The Heart Association is conducting its February-long fund drive, which will hit its pinnacle Sunday—Heart Sunday.
